DEVELOP NEW CORN

Many Farmers Over the State
Found to be Experimenting For Selves

Intense interest in corn growing, particularly in the development of early maturing corn, was being manifested today by farmers and others who visited the Second Annual North Dakota State Corn Show, in the exhibit room in the Annex Hotel building, on East Broadway.

Reports were made by several exhibitors of yields of corn running from 40 to 50 bushels an acre, through careful selection of seed and proper cultivation, while others reported that experiments they had carried on in developing new kinds of early maturing corn had proved successful.

The excellence of the exhibits proved a surprise to all visitors at the show, since the year 1924 had been described as a poor corn year and reports of damage by frost had been received. The exhibits, coming as they do from 30 counties of the state and all sections, emphasize that the finest kind of corn can be matured in North Dakota even in an unfavorable year.

The number of farmers coming in today, many of them from long distances, to view the corn show, was an indication of the intense interest being manifested in the exhibits. It is probable that the prize winning exhibits will be entered in the International Hay and Grain Show, to be held in Chicago beginning November 29.

The program at the Auditorium this afternoon included an address by Robert Wilson, of the U. S. Great Plains Station, Mandan. Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the Auditorium there will be a feature film, and an address by Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of the State Agricultural College, whose subject will be "Northern Corn for Northern Climates." There will be an institute program Saturday also.

Exhibits from 30 counties had been unpacked and displayed on the first day of the show yesterday, with more in the mails to be entered. The total number of exhibits reached 454 late yesterday, about equal to the number of last year, and last year's total will be exceeded.

Counties represented yesterday were: Adams, Grant, Stark, Barnes, Burleigh, Morton, Kidder, McHenry, Sargent, Ransom, Richland, Wells, Slope, Cass, Emmons, McLean, McKenzie, Hettinger, Foster, McIntosh, Ward, Dickey, LaMoure, Mercer, Sheridan, Logan, Pierce, Mountrail, Golden Valley and Stutsman.

An exceptionally fine display was shown by E. M. Granlund of Ransom county, who won the sweepstakes prize for the best individual ear of corn exhibited last year. A visitor to the show remarked that "Ransom county won't be represented because the corn all froze out."

He was led to the exhibit of Mr. Granlund and others from Ransom. Corn on the stalk was exhibited by Mr. Granlund. The stalks were 10 feet high, ears 10 to 11 1/2 inches long, of finest, hard quality; and Mr. Granlund reported his Minnesota No. 13 corn made 50 bushels to the acre and pointed to other corn that made 35 bushels to the acre. He planted 150 acres of corn and none of it was frosted, he said. Mr. Granlund displayed Minnesota No. 13, Wisconsin Golden Glow and other corn.

Booster Here
G. B. Montany, whose postoffice address is Kulm but who farms in Dickey county, is back at the show this year. Mr. Montany wrote a poem regarding the corn show last year, which he had printed as a booster effort.

CORN HISTORY OF NO. DAKOTA IS OUTLINED

Grown Freely By Mandan Indians
200 Years Ago, Fell
To Low Ebb, Rises

IN THE CORN BELT

Yield of Corn in North Dakota
That of Kansas

"Since America was discovered, the advance of corn growing has been coincident with the stabilizing of agriculture and synonymous with diversification," George F. Will, chairman of the North Dakota State Corn Show executive committee, declared in an address before the Rotary club here, in connection with the state show being held in Bismarck.

"A pure wheat raising agriculture is only next to the pastoral nomadic life such as is lived by the Moors of Algeria who, save for the Moors, and return to harvest," Mr. Will continued.

"North Dakota, after years of struggle, is now well on the high road to a place in that magic territory known as the 'Corn Belt,' where diversified farming rules and prosperity presides. North Dakota is becoming a 'Corn Belt State' and is still in places viewed with skepticism. Let us see what elms the corn can establish to that place."

"Two hundred years ago there was raised in North Dakota, in the sections now known as Burleigh and Morton counties, some 200,000 bushels of corn on some 10,000 acres. The Mandan Indians, our original settlers, then in the height of their prosperity, were the producers."

Fell to Low Point
"In 1870 the total area in corn was not more than 1,600 acres with a total yield of perhaps 3,000 bushels. Nearly all of this was grown by the Indians. In 1880 the state had perhaps 2,000 acres, most of which was cultivated by the Indians, but perhaps 200 to 300 acres were grown by Burleigh county's earliest settlers."

"Since that year gradually and surely corn growing has won its way in the state. By 1919 the state had a total in corn of some 500,000 acres, and the production totalled 18,000,000 bushels. In 1902 there were 711,000 acres, with a production of 17,000,000 bushels. By 1923 the state had an area of nearly 1,000,000 acres in corn and the total production was some 31,000,000 bushels. In that year six counties of the state, of which Burleigh was one, produced more corn than wheat, and for the first time North Dakota corn was shipped in carloads to the central markets."

"This year Burleigh county has in corn some 30,000 acres and the yield will be almost one million bushels. The total value of all North Dakota agricultural products including the returns from dairying and poultry for 1924 are about $364,000,000. Our corn crop represents at least 10 percent of this value."

Surely in Corn Belt
"Lately we have this year most definitely demonstrated that corn can be raised and matured in North Dakota in a good wheat year when general climatic conditions were wholly unfavorable to it. This because we have for years been developing through the help of our Indian predecessors corn which was suited to a severe climate with short growing season and often cool summers. And also because we have at last begun to learn the lesson of early planting and plenty of cultivation. The old fallacy that corn would fail in a wheat year evidently had its foundation in the fact that we always planted corn after everything else was done and only cultivated it when there was nothing else to do."

"Land in the 'Corn Belt' states of the central west is worth five times or more what it is in the North Dakota 'Corn Belt,' yet for the past five years our average yield of corn per acre has been from 27 to 33 bushels, very little under that of Iowa, and greater than that of Kansas, which averages in the same period from 22 to 28 bushels."

"I believe these facts and figures, when duly considered and weighed, will prove to even the biased mind that North Dakota is most emphatically in the 'Corn Belt,' and that she can raise corn at an even greater profit than the so-called 'Corn Belt' states."

NO COUNTY FAIR TAX
Stanley, N. D., Nov. 13.—Mountrail county voters declared themselves opposed to a tax for a county fair, as well as against a proposal for establishing a county farm for the poor.

Police Seeking to Identify
Men Who Shot and Killed
Gang Leader

Chicago, Nov. 13.—(By the A. P.)—Dion O'Bannon, florist gunman, lay in a $10,000 casket today guarded by silent, quare-jawed henchmen, amid thousands of dollars worth of flowers and wreaths, while the police traced what they considered the first tangible clue to the identity of his slayers.

They held Jules Portugais, 23, a boxer, known as "Jimmy Wells," in whose garage a blue sedan was found answering the description of the one in which the slayers fled from O'Bannon's flower shop after the killing.

The car's license plate, police said, corresponded with that which witnesses said the slayers' automobile carried. Harry Portugais denied the automobile had been out of the garage Monday at the time of the slaying but later admitted he was used it himself when he was confronted by two garage employees who contradicted his first story. The son maintained silence.

Doubts Success
Michael Hughes, detective chief, expressed doubt that the slayers, if found, would ever be prosecuted.

"I expect we will satisfy ourselves to a moral certainty as to the identity of the killers," Chief Hughes said, "but nothing will come of it. There will be no prosecution. It's the same old story; we'll never be able to get anybody to identify them if we do get them."

O'Bannon's friends, professing ignorance of the identity of the slayers, are also investigating, Louis Alterie, the slain leader's lieutenant, upon whom O'Bannon's mantle is reported to have fallen, has told reporters.

"If I can make an appointment with the killers, I will shoot it out with them," he said.

He said he and O'Bannon had recently received telephone threats and the former had expected trouble last Monday. Alterie had intended going to the flower shop as a guard but overstepped, he said. He attributed the killing to jealousy of O'Bannon's growing power in the underworld and politically.

Explanation

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 13.—Confessing, officers say, that he killed his father, Elmer Bassett, aged 38, by striking him over the head with a large mantle clock, Mortimer Bassett, 28, is said to have promised Sheriff Stoddard today he would appear in Circuit Court and plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

The elder Bassett died in a hospital yesterday. Bassett is alleged to have said that he was "full of moonshine" at the time he struck his father and so he was not clear as to precisely how the tragedy occurred.

HILL HELD NOT GUILTY IN U. S. LIQUOR TRIAL

Representative in Congress,
Who Made Test Case, Is Freed By The Jury

2 COUNTS DISMISSED

Involved Making of Cider and Fruit Juice in His Home in Baltimore

Baltimore, Nov. 13.—Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore was acquitted by a jury in United States Court today of violating the Volstead law by manufacturing intoxicating wine and cider at his home.

The fifth and sixth counts, which charged Col. Hill with maintaining a common nuisance at his home, were dismissed under instructions from Judge Morris A. Soper, who presided at the trial.

The trial was the result of a test case forced by Col. Hill who maintained the Volstead law gave the farmer a right to manufacture cider and wine but withheld from the city man the right to manufacture beer.

The trial brought from Judge Soper the opinion that the clause of the Volstead act defining beverages of more than half of one per cent alcoholic content as illegal did not apply to home-made wine and cider, provided the product is non-intoxicating "in fact."

Judge Soper also indicated by his ruling and his charge to the jury that the burden rested upon the government to show that such home products were intoxicating in fact, and a violation of the law.

AWAIT TEXT OF RULING
Washington, Nov. 13.—The Department of Justice will await a full report from United States Attorney Woodcock at Baltimore before it is willing to comment on the effect of the acquittal of John Philip Hill in the cider manufacture case.

Attorney-General Stone explained that here could be no appeal by the government under the law and that therefore the case against Mr. Hill became a closed incident insofar as the government is concerned.

WM. M. BUTLER IS NAMED TO U. S. SENATE

Is Appointed to Succeed Senator Lodge, From Massachusetts

Boston, Nov. 13.—William M. Butler, lawyer and manufacturer, and chairman of the Republican National Committee, today was appointed by Governor Cox to succeed the late Henry Cabot Lodge as United States Senator from Massachusetts. The Governor, it was said, has assured that Mr. Butler will accept.

The appointment is for approximately two years, as the seat cannot be filled by election until the next general state election in 1926. This is in accordance with a law enacted two years ago giving the Governor authority to appoint a successor to fill such vacancies as may develop between elections.

Senator Lodge's term would have expired in 1928 and the winner of the election two years hence will serve only until that time.

WOULD CUT TERM SHORT

Boston, Nov. 13.—Chairman Charles H. McHugh of the Democratic state committee announced that he would file with the legislature today a bill, the effect of which would be to limit until March 4 or until an election can be held the term of Wm. M. Butler as U. S. Senator in succession to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. The matter may be carried to the U. S. Supreme Court, he said.

CUMMINS HAS PLAN

Iowa Senator Would Take Up
Railroad Legislation at First Opportunity

Washington, Nov. 13.—An extra session of the new Congress soon after March 4 was urged today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who declared he thought farm and railroad measures, as well as the World Court proposal, and perhaps tax relief, should be taken up at that time.

NO TAX EFFORTS
Washington, Nov. 13.—Tax reduction at the coming short session of congress will not be attempted under present plans by the administration and although some congressional leaders have expressed a desire to take up such legislation it now appears that attention will be directed primarily to appropriation and farm measures.

It is understood that Secretary Mellon, who conferred for more than half an hour with President Coolidge considers it impracticable to attempt to reopen the tax question at the three months session with a new law just going into effect.

FOR RAILROAD LEGISLATION
Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 13.—Preparations for railroad legislation in the short session of congress will get under way in Washington immediately, Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, co-author of the Keat-Cummins transportation act, announced here prior to his departure for the capital.

The result of the election has so materially improved the situation, Senator Cummins declared, that the opposing factions in the railroad controversy can now get together on the economic questions involved and take the railroads out of politics.

During the next few days the Iowa senator plans to head a series of conferences with President Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and representatives of both the railroad operators and their employees in an effort to agree on a program of legislation.

Senator Cummins expressed the hope that Senator LaFollette, with whom he differs on a part of the railroad program, will meet him half way.

FARGO NEGROES ARE TRIED IN DISTRICT COURT

Fargo, Nov. 13.—Charles McAdoo and Albert "Lucky Dream" Spencer, negro characters of Fargo, added interest to the opening of Cass county district court today at the trial of McAdoo, who is charged with shooting Spencer through the abdomen following a craps game in an alley here on October 6 last.

The alleged assassin, who admitted at the time to police, they said, that he had shot his neighbor with an old .38-55 calibre rifle barrel, minus a stock, asserts that his action followed an attack on himself by Spencer with a knife.

"Lucky Dream" insisted at the trial that McAdoo "just naturally shot me for no reason whatever."

"No sab, I knew that both of us couldn't stay in that one room," Spencer declared on cross examination in answer to a question whether he had done anything but run out of the house after the alleged assault.

TREATY HITS OBSTACLES

German Seek Concessions in Commercial Treaty

Paris, Nov. 13.—The negotiations for a Franco-German commercial treaty have encountered a serious hitch which it is reported, due to the efforts of German delegates to reach a modification of the accord reached in London for putting the Dawes plan into effect in exchange for the commercial advantage France is gaining. It is said Premier Herriot flatly refused to mix up commercial negotiations with the reparations questions.

The Germans are said of all to want abolition of the 26 percent reparations recovery tax and modification of certain phases of the Dawes plan. Premier Herriot reminded the German ambassador that the German delegates in London had promised France commercial advantages in compensation for the voluntary offer of the French to hasten the military evacuation of part of the military territory.

COOLIDGE WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge will speak tonight before the annual meeting here of the Association of Land Grant Colleges.

This will be Mr. Coolidge's first public address since the election and he expects to devote his remarks chiefly to the subject of agriculture.

OFFERS BYRNE APPOINTMENT TO N. D. POST

Governor Nestos Would Name
Him as Successor to
Thomas Hall, Dec. 1

Governor Nestos late yesterday tendered Robert Byrne of Arnegard, Secretary of State-elect, appointment as Secretary of State to succeed Thomas Hall when the latter resigns the office about December 1 to take his place as a representative in Congress. Mr. Byrne took the offer under consideration.

Governor Nestos, in explaining his decision to name Mr. Byrne as successor to Mr. Hall, said that Mr. Byrne will take office for a two-year term in January, having been elected in November, and that it seemed proper to name him for the period of about one month expected to intervene between the time of resignation of Mr. Hall and the assumption of office by Mr. Byrne.

If another were named for the short period, it would be necessary to have examiners "check out" twice in the office within a few weeks, an unnecessary expense, it was explained, and if Mr. Byrne takes office about December 1 he will have several weeks in which to thoroughly familiarize himself with the office before the legislative convenes.

The Governor also felt that since Mr. Byrne had been elected by popular vote for a two-year period, it was proper to put him in office at the first opportunity.

POLL BOOKS ARE LACKING

With the county commissioners meeting here, and ready to act as a board of canvassers, poll books from two precincts—Glenview and Trygve—were lacking, according to County Auditor Johnson. A message was dispatched to election officials to send them in.

One precinct still was missing, unofficially, in the figures on justice of the peace. There were six candidates, four to be elected, and they stood: A. E. Shipp, 2,851; C. G. Boice, 2,702; Anton Beer, 2,675; W. S. Casselman, 2,651; Rowland H. Crane, 2,635; W. D. Perkins, 2,260.

LEAGUERS MAY ASK REVIEW IN TWO COUNTIES

Wells and Sargent County

WOULD SWING CONTROL

Success in Either One of Contests Would Overturn Independent Majority

Contests may be instituted in two North Dakota counties by members of the Nonpartisan League for the purpose of establishing the election of Nonpartisans and turning the control of the state senate from the hands of the Independents to the Leaguers. The Independents, on the basis of unofficial returns, have a majority of one in the Senate while the League controls the House.

The two senatorial districts in which contests are being suggested are Grant county and Wells county. Success in either one of these for the Nonpartisans would turn the control of the legislature.

While S. S. McDonald, member of the executive committee of the Nonpartisan League, the only member in the city, denied any knowledge of the situation, and E. J. Pepke, campaign manager, was reported at his hotel to have checked out and left for Minot, it was reported that Mr. Pepke had gone to Fessenden to investigate reports reaching him, and other sources, confirmed reports of possible contests.

The Nonpartisans in Wells county who suggested a contest claimed gross irregularities in two precincts in Fessenden, which, if thrown out, would give Engel, League-endorsed senatorial candidate, the election. The nature of the alleged irregularities was not divulged.

In Grant county, it is claimed by Nonpartisans there, a number of voters cast ballots for O. C. Gross, League candidate, and also for Fred Pathman, Independent candidate. The name of Gross, it was said, appeared in the LaFollette column on the ballot. It was the contention of Nonpartisans that if the voter cast a ballot for Pathman, and also jumped over to the LaFollette column on the ballot and voted for Gross, it was his evident intention to give his ballot to the latter.

No official action, it is understood, has been taken in either county.

LEAGUE WINS DRAW

Fessenden, N. D., Nov. 13.—Another Nonpartisan League member was placed in the House of Representatives in North Dakota yesterday through the settlement of a tie vote that was developed by the official canvass of the Wells county vote.

Con Sallie, Independent, whom the unofficial returns showed had been elected by a margin of two votes, was thrown into a tie with W. R. Hartl, Nonpartisan, on the official return vote. The official vote as canvassed by the county board was 1,596 for each. In the drawing of lot to settle the tie a pack of cards was used, with the drawer of the best two cards in three declared to be elected.

There was no little excitement outside the Wells county courthouse and the office of the county auditor where the drawing took place. Hartl drew a Jack, a nine and a five while Sallie drew a Jack and a pair of deuces.

LEGION NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Warren Is Commander For The Ensuing Year

L. P. Warren, adjutant of Lloyd Spetz Post, American Legion for the past three years, was elected commander of the ensuing year, succeeding Phil Webb, at the annual meeting of the organization held last night. Other officers of the post were named as follows: Vice-Commander, John Mayolph; Adjutant, Fred L. Page; Finance Officer, Arno Oldsvendsgaard; Chaplain, Dr. J. O. Armon; Historian, P. G. Harrington; Members of executive committee, M. B. Gilman, Carl Knudsen.

Installation will be at next meeting. The Post officers will join Fargo's Legion Post in urging upon President Coolidge the appointment of Dr. John Lee Coulter as Secretary of Agriculture.

BONUS NOTES ARE SIGNED

The State Industrial Commission has signed $375,000 of notes, on which money was obtained for the purchase of soldier bonus certificates in anticipation of payment of taxes from which the bonus claims have been paid hitherto, and will continue the purchase of bonus claims as long as ex-service men desire to dispose of them to the state body, it was announced today.

G. R. Montaney, whose postoffice address is Kulm but who farms in Dickey county, is back at the show this year. Mr. Montaney wrote a poem regarding the corn show last year, which he had printed as a booster effort.

Mr. Montaney is displaying several corn samples, chiefly of a corn he calls "Combination" and which he says he evolved in five years of effort. The corn this year, he said, will make 40 bushels to the acre. He had sent some seed to Mike Hiltcher and E. Sasse, living near Bismarck, who planted it. The corn of the latter two men is far better than his, and ought to make 50 bushels to the acre, he says.

Mr. Montaney is an enthusiastic corn grower.

Doubts Success
Michael Hughes, detective chief, expressed doubt that the slayers, if found, would ever be prosecuted. "I expect we will satisfy ourselves to a moral extent as to the identity of the killers," Chief Hughes said, "but nothing will come of it. There will be no prosecution. It's the same old story; we'll never be able to get anybody to identify them if we do get them."

O'Bannon's friends, professing ignorance of the identity of the slayers, are also investigating. Louis Alterie, the slain leader's lieutenant, upon whom O'Bannon's mantle is reported to have fallen, has told reporters.

"If I can make an appointment with the killers I will shoot it out with them," he said.

He said he and O'Bannon had recently received telephone threats and the former had expected trouble last Monday. Alterie had intended going to the flower shop as a guard but overslept, he said. He attributed the killing to jealousy of O'Bannon's political power in the underworld and politically.

CONFESSES HE SLEW FATHER

Full of Moonshine, Is Son's Explanation

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 13.—Confessing, officers said, that he killed his father, Elmer Bassett, aged 58, by striking him over the head with a large maul, clock, Mortimer Bassett, 26, is said to have promised Sheriff Stoddard today he would appear in Circuit Court and plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

The elder Bassett died in a hospital yesterday. Bassett is alleged to have said that he was "full of moonshine" at the time he struck his father and so he was not clear as to precisely how the tragedy occurred.

HILL HELD NOT GUILTY IN U. S. LIQUOR TRIAL

Representative in Congress, Who Made Test Case, Is Freed By The Jury

2 COUNTS DISMISSED

Involved Making of Cider and Fruit Juice in His Home in Baltimore

Baltimore, Nov. 13.—Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore was acquitted by a jury in United States Court today of violating the Volstead law by manufacturing intoxicating wine and cider at his home.

The fifth and sixth counts, which charged Col. Hill with maintaining a common nuisance at his home, were dismissed under instructions from Judge Morris A. Soper, who presided at the trial.

The trial was the result of a test case forced by Col. Hill who maintained the Volstead law gave the farmer a right to manufacture cider and wine but withheld from the city man the right to manufacture beer. The trial brought from Judge Soper the opinion that the clause of the Volstead act defining beverages of more than half of one per cent alcoholic content as illegal did not apply to home-made wine and cider, provided the product is non-intoxicating "in fact."

Judge Soper also indicated by his ruling and his charge to the jury that the burden rested upon the government to show that such home products were intoxicating in fact, and a violation of the law.

AWAIT TEXT OF RULING

Washington, Nov. 13.—The Department of Justice will await a full report from United States Attorney Woodcock at Baltimore before it is willing to comment on the effect of the acquittal of John Philip Hill in the cider manufacture case. Attorney-General Stone explained that there could be no appeal by the government under the law and that therefore the case against Mr. Hill becomes a closed incident insofar as the government is concerned.

WM. M. BUTLER IS NAMED TO U. S. SENATE

Is Appointed to Succeed Senator Lodge, From Massachusetts

Boston, Nov. 13.—William M. Butler, lawyer and member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, today was appointed by Governor Cox to succeed the late Henry Cabot Lodge as United States Senator from Massachusetts. The Governor, it was said, has assurances that Mr. Butler will accept.

The appointment is for approximately two years, as the seat cannot be filled by election until the next general state election in 1926. This is in accordance with a law enacted two years ago giving the Governor authority to appoint a successor to fill such vacancies as may develop between elections.

Senator Lodge's term would have expired in 1928 and the winner of the election two years hence will serve until that time.

WOULD CUT TERM SHORT

Boston, Nov. 13.—Chairman Charles H. McGue of the Democratic state committee announced that he would file with the legislature today a bill, the effect of which would be to limit until March 4 or until an election can be held the term of Wm. M. Butler as U. S. Senator in succession to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. The matter may be carried to the U. S. Supreme Court, he said.

NAVY PLANS AIR DEFENSE

Lets Contract For Boats With Long Range

Washington, Nov. 13.—A contract for naval flying boats capable of making a sustained flight from the west coast to Honolulu has been signed by the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics. Specifications call for boats with a capacity of five passengers and a ton of freight.

The contract was regarded in Naval circles as the first step toward filling a recognized deficiency in the fleet for long distance maneuvers and if it meets expectations the new planes will be used as a model for the organization of a special fleet auxiliary capable of independent operations 2,600 miles from the permanent base.

BORAH URGES SPECIAL CALL FOR CONGRESS

Idaho Senator Would Have Senate Take Up Problems After March 4

CUMMINS HAS PLAN

Iowa Senator Would Take Up Railroad Legislation at First Opportunity

Washington, Nov. 13.—An extra session of the new Congress soon after March 4 was urged today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who declared he thought farm and railroad measures, as well as the World Court proposal, and perhaps tax relief, should be taken up at that time.

NO TAX EFFORTS

Washington, Nov. 13.—Tax reduction at the coming short session of congress will not be attempted under present plans by the administration and although some congressional leaders have expressed a desire to take up such legislation it now appears that attention will be directed primarily to appropriation and farm measures.

It is understood that Secretary Mellon, who conferred for more than half an hour with President Coolidge considers it impracticable to attempt to reopen the tax question at the three months session with a new law just going into effect.

FOR RAILROAD LEGISLATION

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 13.—Preparations for railroad legislation in the short session of congress will get under way in Washington immediately, Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, co-author of the Esch-Cummins transportation act, announced here prior to his departure for the capital.

The result of the election has so materially improved the situation, Senator Cummins declared, that the opposing factions in the railroad controversy can now get together on the economic questions involved and take the railroads out of politics.

During the next few days the Iowa senator plans to head a series of conferences with President Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and representatives of both the railroad operators and their employees in an effort to agree on a program of legislation.

Senator Cummins expressed the hope that Senator LaFollette, with whom he differs on a part of the railroad program, will meet him half way.

FARGO NEGROES ARE TRIED IN DISTRICT COURT

Fargo, Nov. 13.—Charles McAdoo and Albert "Lucky Dreams" Spencer, negro characters of Fargo, added interest at the reopening of Cass county district court today at the trial of McAdoo, who is charged with shooting Spencer through the abdomen following a craps game in an alley here on October 5 last.

The alleged assailant, who admitted at the time to police, they said, that he had shot his neighbor with an old .38-56 calibre rifle barrel, minus a stock, asserts that his action followed an attack on himself by Spencer with a knife.

"Lucky Dreams" insisted at the trial that McAdoo "just naturally shot me for no reason whatever."

No one, I knew that both of us couldn't stay in that room," Spencer declared on cross examination in answer to a question whether he had done anything but run out of the house after the alleged assault.

TREATY HITS OBSTACLES

Germapns Seek Concessions in Commercial Treaty

Paris, Nov. 13.—The negotiations for a Franco-German commercial treaty have encountered a serious hitch which it is reported, due to the efforts of German delegates to reach a modification of the accord reached in London for putting the Dawes plan into effect in exchange for the commercial advantage France is gaining. It is said Premier Herriot flatly refused to mix up commercial negotiations with the reparations questions.

The Germans are said of all to want abolition of the 26 percent reparations recovery tax and modifications of certain phases of the Dawes plan. Premier Herriot reminded the German ambassador that the German delegates in London had promised France commercial advantages in compensation for the voluntary offer of the French to hasten the military evacuation of part of the military territory.

OFFERS BYRNE APPOINTMENT TO N. D. POST

Governor Nestos Would Name Him as Successor to Thomas Hall, Dec. 1

Governor Nestos late yesterday tendered Robert Byrne of Arnegard, Secretary of State-elect, appointment as Secretary of State to succeed Thomas Hall when the latter resigns the office about December 1 to take his place as a representative in Congress. Mr. Byrne took the offer under consideration.

Governor Nestos, in explaining his decision to name Mr. Byrne as successor to Mr. Hall, said that Mr. Byrne will take office for a two-year term in January, having been elected in November, and that it seemed proper to name him for the period of about one month expected to intervene between the time of resignation of Mr. Hall and the assumption of office by Mr. Byrne.

If another were named for the short period, it would be necessary to have examiners "check out" twice in the office within a few weeks, an unnecessary expense, it was explained, and if Mr. Byrne takes office about December 1 he will have several weeks in which to thoroughly familiarize himself with the office before the legislature convenes. The Governor also felt that since Mr. Byrne had been elected by popular vote for a two-year period, it was proper to put him in office at the first opportunity.

NAPOLÉON WOMAN DIES

Napoleon, N. D., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Hannah Kane of Napoleon, North Dakota, died at her home in that city Tuesday November 11. Funeral services will be held at Napoleon Friday morning from St. Philip's Catholic Church at Napoleon, her remains to be taken to Bismarck and laid to rest in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Kane was 78 years old. She leaves to mourn her death three daughters and three sons; Mary, Rose and Nellie Kane, all of Napoleon, North Dakota, Arthur Kane of Grenora, N. Dak., John Kane of Williston, N. Dak., and Leonard Kane of Scooby, Mont. Her husband Joseph Kane and one son preceded her in death.

LEAGUERS MAY ASK REVIEW IN TWO COUNTIES

Wells and Sargent County Said To Be Involved in Reported Action

WOULD SWING CONTROL

Success in Either One of Contests Would Overturn Independent Majority

Contests may be instituted in two North Dakota counties by members of the Nonpartisan League for the purpose of establishing the election of Nonpartisans and turning the control of the state senate from the hands of the Independents to the Leaguers. The Independents, on the basis of unofficial returns, have a majority of one in the Senate while the League controls the House.

The two senatorial districts in which contests are being suggested are Grant county and Wells county. Success in either one of these for the Nonpartisans would turn the control of the legislature.

While S. S. McDonald, member of the executive committee of the Nonpartisan League, the only member in the city, denied any knowledge of the situation, and E. J. Pepke, campaign manager, was reported at his hotel to have checked out and left for Minot, it was reported that Mr. Pepke had gone to Fessenden to investigate reports reaching him, and other sources confirmed reports of possible contests.

The Nonpartisans in Wells county who suggested a contest claimed gross irregularities in two precincts in Fessenden, which, if thrown out, would give Engel, the League-endorsed senatorial candidate, the election. The nature of the alleged irregularities was not divulged.

In Grant county, it is claimed by Nonpartisans there, a number of voters cast ballots for O. C. Gross, League candidate, and also for Fred Pathman, Independent candidate. The name of Gross, it was said, appeared in the LaFollette column on the ballot. It was the contention of Nonpartisans that if the voter cast a ballot for Pathman, and also jumped over to the LaFollette column on the ballot and voted for Gross, it was his evident intention to give his ballot to the latter.

No official action, it is understood, has been taken in either county.

LEAGUER WINS DRAW

Fessenden, N. D., Nov. 13.—Another Nonpartisan League member was placed in the House of Representatives in North Dakota yesterday through the settlement of a tie vote that was developed by the official canvass of the Wells county vote.

Con Sellie, Independent, whom the unofficial returns showed had been elected by a margin of two votes, was thrown into a tie with W. R. Hartl, Nonpartisan, on the official county vote. The official vote as canvassed by the county board was 1,506 for each. In the drawing of lot to settle the tie a pack of cards was used, with the drawer of the best two cards in three declared to be elected.

There was no little excitement outside the Wells county courthouse and the office of the county auditor where the drawing took place. Hartl drew a Jack, a nine and five while Sellie drew a Jack and a pair of deuces.

LEGION NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Warren Is Commander For The Ensuing Year

L. P. Warren, adjutant of Lloyd Spetz Post, American Legion for the past three years, was elected commander for the ensuing year, succeeding Phil Webb, at the annual meeting of the organization held last night. Other officers of the post were named as follows: Vice-Commander, John Musolph; Adjutant, Fred L. Page; Finance Officer, Arnold Svendsgaard; Chaplain, Dr. J. O. Arneson; Historian, P. C. Hargraves; Members of executive committee, M. B. Gilman, Carl Knudson.

Installation will be at next meeting. The Post officers will join Fargo's Legion Post in urging upon President Coolidge the appointment of Dr. John Lee Coulter as Secretary of Agriculture.

BONUS NOTES ARE SIGNED

The State Industrial Commission has signed $375,000 of notes, on which money was obtained for the purchase of soldier bonus certificates for anticipation of payment of taxes from which the bonus claims have been paid hitherto, and will continue the purchase of bonus claims as long as ex-service men desire to dispose of them to the state body, it was announced today.

NORTH DAKOTA NOT AFFECTED BY BOOZE RULE

Officials Hold That Federal Judge Soper's Ruling
Makes Little Difference

STATE PROHIBITION

Absolute on the Point Involved, Says States Attorney of Cass County

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 12.—Federal Judge Morris A. Soper's decision that the Volstead act's one-half of one percent section does not apply to wine and other made in the home for home consumption only, will not permit North Dakotans to make their own home brew because the state law prohibits possession in the home or any other place of beverages with alcoholic content of more than one-half of one percent.

This was the declaration of State Attorney H. E. Horner of Cass county last evening. Mr. Horner maintained that whatever changes the ruling may necessitate in the enforcement proceedings of the federal government department of justice, the prohibition is absolute under the state statute and that the state law would be enforced to the letter here.

State Law Is Strict
"This ruling can have no effect in North Dakota because the state law here absolutely prohibits the making or keeping of beverages with alcoholic content of more than one-half of one percent," said Mr. Horner. "Judge Soper's ruling will only apply to prosecutions in the federal courts and it would seem that as far as the federal law is concerned, this ruling makes it less strict than has been the generally accepted opinion heretofore."

"However, on the whole it will make very little difference to the citizens generally as most of the states now have prohibition statutes forbidding the keeping and use of alcoholic liquors. At the time the 18th amendment became operative all states had passed such laws and a number have since so that now there are only one or two states where prohibition is not in effect. Enforcement of the state laws will therefore accomplish the same results as proceedings under the federal law at heretofore interpreted."

No Change Here, Says Stone
Arthur A. Stone, federal prohibition enforcement director for North Dakota, corroborated State Attorney Horner in the statement that the ruling would not change the status of enforcement proceedings in this state. He even went further and declared that the federal enforcement division in this state had always interpreted the section in question along the same line as Judge Soper.

"To us there is nothing new in Judge Soper's ruling," said Mr. Stone. "We have always recognized the rights of citizens to extract the juice from fruit for home consumption as long as these were not intoxicating, whether the alcoholic content was one-half of one percent or over. But a federal permit is required for extracting juice of fruits and the person so doing must file notice thereof with the collector of internal revenue."

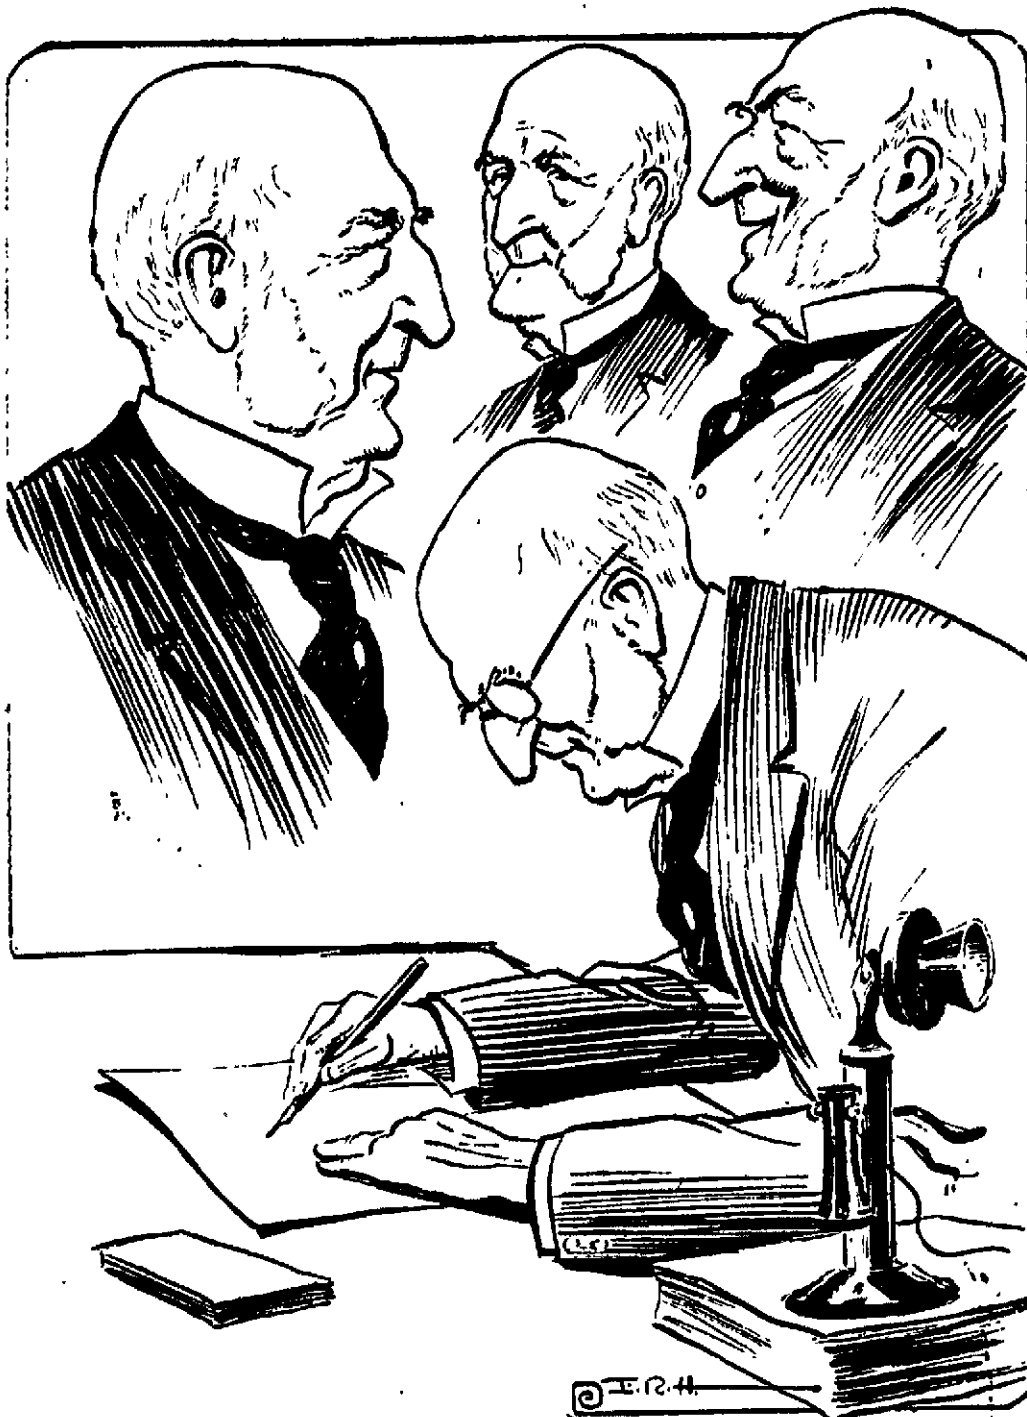

One Such Permit Here
"We have had one such permit in North Dakota and it was granted. However, such person, if his fruit juice contains more than one-half of one percent of alcohol becomes a violator of the state law, whether or not such juice is intoxicating in fact. So there is not any leeway against the one-half percent provision in North Dakota."

Mr. Stone stated that Judge Soper's decision did not apply to home brew but solely to fruit juices, such as wine and cider. "Brewing and distilling are entirely different processes than the extracting of juices from fruit," said Mr. Stone.

No Effect Here, Says Garberg
Paul B. Garberg, assistant United States district attorney in charge of prosecution of prohibition law violator, declared that his interpretation of the Volstead act had always been along the lines laid down by Judge Soper.

"I always understood that fruit juices not intoxicating could be extracted in the home for home consumption only and that this is not a violation of the Volstead act. I cannot see that Judge Soper's ruling can make any difference in enforcement proceedings in this state, especially since our state law is so explicit on the matter," said Mr. Garberg.

I'd Rather Be Funny Than President — That's What Chauncey Depew Told Artist E. R. Higgins

Chauncey Depew was busy at his desk when Artist E. R. Higgins dropped in for a chat. "Ninety-one years and the work of 'chairman of the board' of the New York Central didn't interfere with several good stories as he was being sketched. Depew told Higgins that President Garfield once said to him, 'Chauncey, you might be president if you'd quit your everlasting funny stories.' And Depew turned to Garfield and said, 'Then I'd rather not be president.'"

DAIRY COWS ON INCREASE

Gain Recorded in Burleigh
County, Figures Show

Burleigh county's dairy cow population is increasing according to figures announced by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The statement covers an area embracing approximately one-eighth of the state in this section, and is believed to hold true for the county proper.

A 19.2 percent gain in the number of dairy cows two years old and over is noted for the district over the preceding year, while the increase for the state as a whole was 14.9 per cent as compared with 1923. The entire United States shows an increase amounting to 6 per cent, government figures show.

The number of heifers 1 to 2 years old as compared to the total number of cows in this district seem to be above the average, indicating the intention to bring more young stock into milk in the near future. In citing these figures the Institute calls attention to the fact that the United States needs 320,000 more cows every year if production is to keep step with the normal growth of demand for dairy products. There are 1,412,000 more mouths to be fed in the United States with every passing year and with the increased consumption of dairy products per capita, this need number to the nation's herd will barely suffice to meet the increased demand.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION IS ENDORSED

Sentinel Butte, N. D., Nov. 12.—The Golden Valley Sunday School Association held its annual convention at Sentinel Butte Sunday, November 9. Neil Lee, State Financial Secretary discussed Sunday school conditions in North Dakota during the morning session. In the afternoon session, the following topics were discussed, viz:

"The Superintendent and the Sunday School" by Mrs. C. I. Cook of Beach, N. D.

"Teaching the Young Peoples Class" by Irene L. Smith, of Sentinel Butte.

"Religious Education and the Legislative Bill" by Rev. O. L. Anthony, of Beach.

"Primary Methods in the Sunday School" by Mrs. W. T. Pederson, of Sentinel Butte.

"Responsibility of the Community for the Religious Education of its Children" by Hon. Joseph A. Kitchen, of Bismarck, N. D.

Resolutions were adopted favoring a bill enacted to provide for the week-day Religious Education, copies of which were to be sent to State Secretary Rev. C. A. Armstrong for presentation to the next regular session of the State Legislature.

In the evening session Rev. John Orchard of Dickinson, gave a report of his trip as a delegate to the Worlds Sunday school convention at Glasgow, Scotland.

Beach was declared as the place for the next convention. New officers elected were:

President T. L. Butterfield, Sentinel Butte, re-elected. Vice Pres. Rev. M. S. Bovey, Carlyle, Montana.

Secretary, Mrs. C. J. Englund, Sentinel Butte, N. D.

Treasurer, Chas. Purvis, Beach, N. Dak.

QUICKSILVER TO GOLD PLAN TO BE TESTED

Scientific American Announces That Series of Experiments in Progress

New York, Nov. 12.—The Scientific American announced that it would direct an attempt to convert quicksilver into gold, during a series of experiments already in progress under Prof. H. H. Sheldon, department of physics, New York university.

"We believe the effort will be successful," said E. E. Froe, editor of the publication. "The experiments probably will take from two to four months."

He explained that Professor Sheldon's efforts would be directed toward confirming, by a different process, results claimed to have been achieved by Prof. Adolph Miethe during the last year at Charlottenburg Technical college at Berlin. In the meantime, a duplicate of the apparatus used by Professor Miethe is being sent here for study.

The apparatus now being set up at New York university consists chiefly of a quartz lamp which incloses various tubes and electric paraphernalia. The lamp will hold about a half ounce of quicksilver vapor.

The theory is that a current of electricity of 170 volts and an unimpedance to be determined, will "crack" the atoms of the quicksilver, "knock off" the 80th planetary electron which differentiates quicksilver from gold and thus leave atoms with a planetary system of 79 electrons—pure gold.

The 80th electron will have to be knocked off from billions of atoms in the experiment with the half ounce of quicksilver is successful. For, as Mr. Froe said, "in the gold it lakes to plate the head of a pin there are atoms enough so each person in the world could have several thousand of them."

Professor Miethe's reputed discovery that quicksilver could be transformed into gold was an accident. Using a quartz lamp and quicksilver vapor he was seeking to determine the effect of violet electric rays upon the vapor. After 200 hours of operation his apparatus became clogged. He took it apart and discovered its tubes were choked with pure gold.

Why Keep On Paying This Tax?

Everybody expects to pay some taxes, but why impose unnecessary taxes on yourself?

Do you realize that every time you drive your car on an unpaved highway you are actually taxing yourself one to four cents a mile?

This is the cost of increased repair, tire and gasoline bills.

Highway research has definitely established these facts.

Each year you tax yourself in this way a good many dollars.

Instead of spending this money for increased transportation costs, why not invest it in Concrete Highways and pay yourself some dividends?

Concrete Roads and Streets pay for themselves in the saving they effect on the cost of motoring.

Their maintenance cost is so low that this saving alone returns good dividends on the investment, year after year.

You are imposing an unnecessary tax on yourself from which you get no return, by failing to work for more Concrete Highways.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support.

Tell them you are ready to invest in more Concrete Highways, now.

MOONSHINER'S CAVE FOUND IN RIVER BANK

Officers Capture Large Outfit
26 Miles South of Mandan
After Search

WILL MAKE ARRESTS

Mandan, N. D., Nov. 13.—The famed moonshiners of the Kentucky hills never had a more elaborate outfit than that uncovered recently in a cave on the bank of the Missouri river 26 miles south of the city by O. W. Widmer, deputy inspector of the state licensing department and A. Brady, N. P. special agent. One man, name withheld for the present, is in the county jail pending further investigation.

And yesterday visitors at the Morton county court house have been inspecting the large 150 gallon capacity copper still with its long goose neck and perfectly fashioned coil. According to Inspector Widmer he has been trying for several weeks to locate the still, which he charges has been supplying a very good grade of moonshine liquor to Mandan patrons for at least a year.

A few tips finally led Widmer and Brady to a systematic search of the woods in the Missouri river bottoms, and they finally located the moonshine plant.

A room about 14 by 20 feet in size had been hollowed out in the Missouri river bank. Inside the ceiling was shored up with logs and the walls of the room faced in with logs. A concrete furnace was built beneath the huge drum of the copper still. This furnace had a regular furnace door and the concrete was apparently poured to fit the still itself. The great copper drum was about five feet high. From the goose neck at the top of the still was a long coil of copper tubing running into a 500 gallon galvanized iron tank about four feet high where the product was cooled after it trickled out into waiting containers.

And most interesting of all, according to the inspector, was a well drilled in the center of the room, which tapped the water laden sands of the Missouri river for an inexhaustible supply of water for the cooler and for mixing mash.

To reach this moonshiners cave required about nine miles of trekking through the river bottoms. That it had been in operation for about a year was apparent from the path worn by the moonshiners.

The still, five gallons of completed moonshine, coil and other minor evidence was hauled to the county court house. Twelve 50 gallon barrels full of mash in various stages of fermentation, ten gallons of moon, 200 gallons of coarse sugar and 400 pounds of cracked corn was destroyed at the cave by the officers.

Further arrests are expected within a few days, it was stated.

Widmer on Monday also confiscated a still at Hensler and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wm. Chyle.

WHEELER SEES DRYS VICTORS

Says That Great Majority in
Congress for Prohibition

Washington, Nov. 13.—Analyzing the results of the election from a "wet and dry viewpoint," Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league today declared 330 of the 432 members of the House endorsed by the dries have been successful.

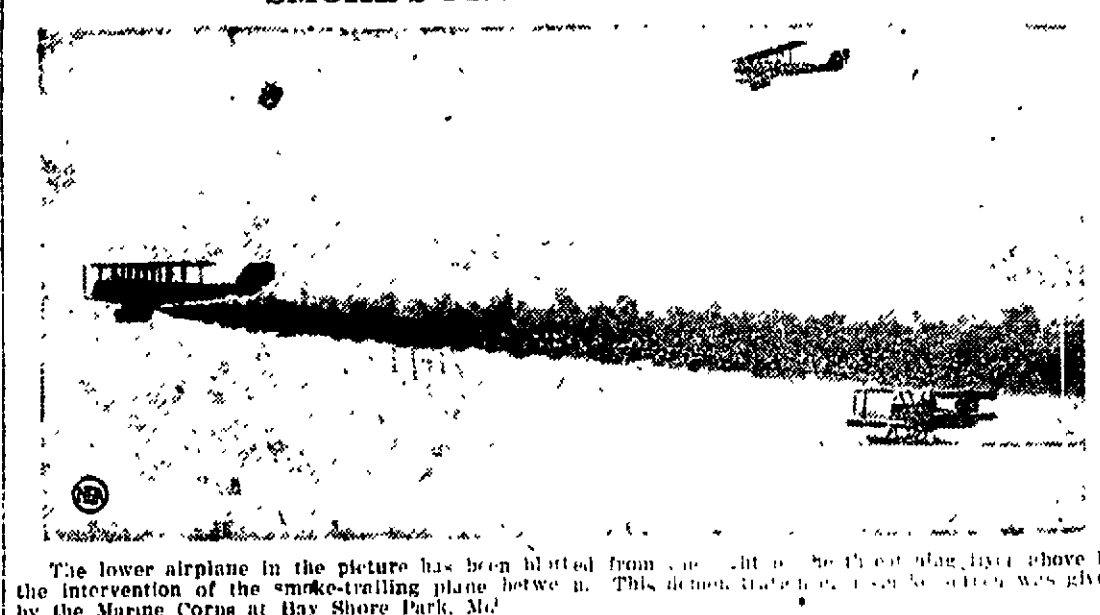

The Association against the prohibition amendment, he said, made 174 endorsements of candidates for Congress of whom 82 were elected. The openly opposed 262 candidates of whom 219 were elected. Eight of the candidates endorsed by the wet organization either repudiated the endorsement or had dry voting records.

Of the 33 Senators elected, 17 who were re-elected are listed as dry, one is outspokenly wet and two voted for more enforcement legislation while all but two of the 13 newly elected Senators are favorable to prohibition enforcement. Most of these were fought by the wets.

The total number of members elect of the House who are listed as favorable to the dry cause is 320 while in the Senate 72 out of the 96 members will support legislation to make prohibition effective.

TOLLEY BANK DEPOSITORS FIRST PAID

Guaranty Fund Commission
Completing Preparations
For Dividend

Depositors of the Tolley State Bank, which closed in the fall of 1920, will be the first to receive a dividend from the Depositors Guaranty Fund Commission, which now is engaged in preliminaries necessary to actually paying depositors. It was announced today by C. B. McMillan and S. G. Severson, members of the commission.

Under the method of procedure adopted by the commission, notices will be sent to depositors shown by the reports of the commission auditors, and depositors will be asked to return their receiver's claim and complete other necessary papers. The depositors then will be paid by check. It probably will be several days before actual payment is made.

In the case of claims of depositors which are rejected or suspended, the commission will give notice that the depositors have 90 days in which to appeal and obtain a hearing.

The dividend is to be paid to depositors of banks closing before July 1, 1923, that claims of $12 or less are to be paid in full, and depositors with claims of $100 or less are to be given a flat payment of $10. In cases where the commission is able to pay but 10 percent on the claim, a certificate of indebtedness, not bearing interest, will be given for the remainder.

The Depositors Guaranty Fund Commission, with assistance of accountants, is setting up office machinery to continue the policy which it has adopted of paying dividends.

BUDGET BODY STARTS WORK

To Present Report to 1925
Legislature

William Watt of Leonard, and Paul Kretschmer, chairman, respectively, of the appropriations committee of the House and Senate in the last legislature and ex-officio members of the budget committee which submits a budget to the 1925 legislature, left here today for Ellendale to investigate the needs of the normal school there and will continue their trip to other institutions. Other members of the budget committee, who are Governor Nestor, Attorney-General Shafer and State Auditor Poundexter, will be with Watt and Leonard in visiting some of the institutions in the state.

After the needs of the various educational, penal and other institutions have been investigated by the budget committee, hearings will be held at the state capital on the needs of the various departments, before the report is submitted to the legislature.

BIG PLOT OF SMUGGLERS IS FOUND IN U. S.

Conspiracy of Vast Dimensions
Uncovered by Agents of the U. S.

Washington, Nov. 13.—By the A. P. A. jewel-smuggling conspiracy of vast dimensions has been uncovered by customs agents working in half a dozen sections of the country since the closing last August of Mrs. Theresa Moss in Los Angeles. Smuggled jewelry valued at more than $250,000 already has been seized and is now known as Medinsky's who is said to have left the country. He is being sought as the active director of not the actual head of the conspiracy in which he is alleged to have had a dozen to more aids.

The killing of Mrs. Moss, wife which "Kid" McCoy charged served, in order as the conspiracy is concerned, it is said, merely to provide the first definite lead into the jewelry smuggling ring, which has been identified as a part of the illicit export. A similar lead was opened in Los Angeles Monday with the killing of Harry L. Katz, and official estimate that several hundred persons are involved widely throughout the country have come into possession of the smuggled goods, and which they thought will never be identified.

MOONSHINER'S CAVE FOUND IN RIVER BANK

Officers Capture Large Outfit
26 Miles South of Mandan
After Search

WILL MAKE ARRESTS

Mandan, N. D., Nov. 13.—The famed moonshiners of the Kentucky hills never had a more elaborate outfit than that uncovered recently in a cave on the bank of the Missouri river 26 miles south of the city by O. W. Widmer, deputy inspector of the state licensing department and A. W. Brady, N. P. special agent. One man, name withheld for the present, is in the county jail pending further investigation. And yesterday visitors at the Morton county court house have been inspecting the large 150 gallon capacity copper still with its long goose neck and perfectly fashioned coil.

According to Inspector Widmer he has been trying for several weeks to locate the still, which he charges has been supplying a very good grade of moonshine liquor to Mandan patrons for at least a year. A few tips finally led Widmer and Brady to a systematic search of the woods in the Missouri river bottoms and they finally located the moonshine plant.

A room about 14 by 20 feet in size had been hollowed out in the Missouri river bank. Inside the ceiling was shored up with logs and the walls of the room faced with logs. A concrete furnace was built beneath the huge drum of the copper still. This furnace had a regular furnace door and the concrete was apparently poured to fit the still itself. The great copper drum was about five feet high. From the goose neck at the top of the still was a long coil of copper tubing running into a 500 gallon galvanized iron tank about four feet high where the product was cooled after it trickled out into waiting containers.

And most interesting of all, according to the inspector, was a well drilled in the center of the room, which tapped the water laden sands of the Missouri river for an inexhaustible supply of water for the cooler and for mixing mash. To reach this moonshiners cave required about nine miles of trekking through the river bottoms. That it had been in operation for about a year was apparent from the path worn by the moonshiners. The still, five gallons of completed moonshine, coil and other minor evidence was hauled to the county court house. Twelve 50 gallon barrels full of mash in various stages of fermentation, ten gallons of moon, 300 gallons of coarse sugar and 400 pounds of cracked corn was destroyed at the cave by the officers.

Further arrests are expected within a few days, it was stated.

Widmer on Monday also confiscated a still at Hensler and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wm. Chyle.

WHEELER SEES DRYS VICTORS

Says That Great Majority in
Congress for Prohibition

Washington, Nov. 13.—Analyzing the results of the election from a "wet and dry viewpoint," Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league today declared 320 of the 432 members of the House endorsed by the drys have been successful.

The Association against the prohibition amendment, he said, made 174 endorsements of candidates for Congress of whom 82 were elected. They openly opposed 262 candidates of whom 219 were elected. Eight of the candidates endorsed by the wet organization either repudiated the endorsement or had dry voting records.

Of the 33 Senators elected, 17 who were reelected are listed as dry, one is outspokenly wet and two voted for more enforcement legislation while all but two of the 13 newly elected Senators are favorable to prohibition enforcement. Most of these were fought by the wets.

The total number of members elect of the House who are listed as favorable to the dry cause is 320 while in the Senate 72 out of the 96 members will support legislation to make prohibition effective.

TOLLEY BANK DEPOSITORS FIRST PAID

Guaranty Fund Commission
Completing Preparations
For Dividend

Depositors of the Tolley State Bank, which closed in the fall of 1920, will be the first to receive a dividend from the Depositors Guaranty Fund Commission, which now is engaged in preliminaries necessary to actually paying depositors. It was announced today by C. B. McMillan and S. G. Severson, members of the commission.

Under the method of procedure adopted by the commission, notices will be sent to depositors shown by the reports of the commission auditors, and depositors will be asked to return their receiver's claim and complete other necessary papers. The depositors then will be paid by check. It probably will be several days before actual payment is made.

In the case of claims of depositors which are rejected or suspended, the commission will give notice that the depositors have 90 days in which to appeal and obtain a hearing.

The dividend is to be paid to depositors of banks closing before July 1, 1923, that claims of $12 or less are to be paid in full, and depositors with claims of $100 or less are to be given a flat payment of $10. THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ON MAKING THE MILL PAY

Because the state-owned mill and elevator at Grand Forks has lost a great deal of money, and because the practical side appeals, the losses have been emphasized in the public mind. But should the state-owned mill and elevator be able to make some profit, it still would be a subversion of our principles of government for the state to continue in a competitive business.

The losses and profits of the state milling business cannot be counted on the balance sheet alone. It should not be forgotten that mills at Jamestown, Bismarck and Valley City, in private hands, were closed chiefly because of competition by the state mill; that the cooperative flour mill at Sentinel Butte suffered so that it does not now show substantial profit; that other small mills in the state are tottering because of the big state institution which is given an unfair advantage over private business. The loss to the communities where the state mill has destroyed or retarded business development could not be counterbalanced by the showing of a profit in the state mill. There is no advantage in market facilities in one big state mill to off-set the advantages of many small ones.

The Tribune, therefore, cannot subscribe to any doctrine which would require one elective officer to subordinate himself to another on the ground that a popular mandate had been rendered on the subject of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks. No such mandate was given in the recent election. Both candidates for Governor were pledged to conduct the mill on business lines. The majority given Mr. Sorlie is not sufficient to draw a conclusion that the mill and elevator were uppermost in the minds of the voters.

Mr. Sorlie is charged with conducting his office to the best of his ability and according to law. So are the other two members of the Industrial Commission, of opposite politics, who may claim a mandate to continue the industries as they now are being run.

Cooperation is due all public officials in honest endeavors. A policy of obstruction for political purposes alone is improper. Nor should pitfalls be placed before any official openly or indirectly.

With the voters of North Dakota electing a new member of the Industrial Commission who says he can make the mill pay, and re-electing two members—the majority—under whom the mill has not paid, the fairer conclusion to draw would be that the voters were not greatly influenced by the mill and elevator. With this premise, the discussion of the project hereafter should be first as to principle and second as to its benefits to the farmers of the state regardless of its financial report.

A DETERMINED SPIRIT

The rise of Magnus Johnson in Minnesota to the Senatorship was spectacular, but not so impressive as is the triumph of Thomas D. Schall, who not only conquered the stiffest sort of political opposition but overcame a natural handicap. He became totally blind in 1907 through a trivial incident. At that time he was a struggling young lawyer, 30 years old, married, possessed of education gained in the University of Minnesota and St. Paul College of Law but lacking clients.

One might imagine Thomas D. Schall giving up his career and seeking existence in the best way he could. A hardly more terrific misfortune could have overtaken him at the outset of his career at the bar. But he did not quit. A new determination was born in him. He continued his law business, enlarged his activities to include politics, and eventually he became a member of the national House of Representatives. Now the blind lawyer has defeated a strong candidate for the United States Senatorship and takes an important place in national affairs.

There are other instances on record of men and women triumphing over natural handicaps. The late example in the success of Mr. Schall may prove a spur to thousands of others who have been unfortunate at nature's hands. It is an example of the achievement of dogged determination.

SHRINKING

American railroads have about 250,000 miles of tracks. In eight years there was a shrinkage of over 4000 miles. With the country growing, railroads should be extending instead of abandoning trackage. Yet even a greater transportation problem is in inadequacy of terminals, particularly for freight. The trouble is less in the haul than in loading and unloading and switching where traffic congests in cities.

BOOZE

In three years Uncle Sam's sleuths have arrested 177,000 for violating the prohibition law. That's 59,000 a year—or one out of every 1900 Americans. Which certainly is a very small fraction of the sellers and drinkers.

Prohibition cannot be successful until the campaign against liquor reverts to what it used to be—educational, rather than an abstract plea to obey the law. The educational campaign was dropped too soon.

AIRPLANE

Americans soon will be building their own airplanes at home, the same as they assemble radio sets, an aviation expert predicts. He says that in 1925 it will be possible to have a practical, home-made flying flivver for an outlay of $500.

This is a fascinating prospect, even though many will believe that life insurance salesmen are backing the buy-a-plane movement.

CHEAPER THAN FORDS

Henry Ford is quoted as saying that small airplanes can be built cheaper than Ford cars. It would depend on the size of the market—quantity production.

One advantage of using flying machines instead of motorcars is that we would get away from the terrific tax burden of road building and eternal resurfacing.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

LAFOLETTE AND RADICALISM

(New York Times).

A LaFollette popular vote of four millions would be a fair enough start toward the building up of a Third Party, provided there were a coherent body of principles to guarantee that the four million votes would stay put and attract other votes. No such guarantee is deducible from Tuesday's poll. LaFollette's showing in the Northwest has demonstrated that the sentiment upon which he built is not a convinced and permanent radicalism but largely a temporary disaffection. He sought to capitalize the spirit of agrarian unrest. The speed with which that discontent subsides is familiar. LaFollette himself, with a mere handful of electoral votes, and Brookhart and Magnus Johnson, either defeated or battling desperately for their political lives, are sufficient proof of the unstable farmer foundation upon which the Third Party was to rest.

The Labor vote for LaFollette in the East and Middle West also offers no permanent guarantees. As concerns New York, the most important of the industrial States, it is established that the Labor vote is not transferable by labor leaders. LaFollette's vote of 287,000 in Greater New York invites analysis. Four years ago Debs polled 131,000 Socialist votes in the city. Subtract these from LaFollette's total, and subtract further the considerable German vote which his stand on the Treaty of Versailles attracted, and 100,000 would be a generous allowance for the Labor votes which Mr. Gompers' endorsement brought him. This would be one-seventh of the reputed membership of the American Federation of Labor in New York City. In the State as a whole LaFollette may have received 450,000 votes, against Debs' vote of 293,000 four years ago. With the same deductions we gather that LaFollette exercised no stronger pull on the industrial population up-State than he did in New York City.

Speculation favorable to a Third Party has drawn heavily upon the British example. But the parallel is vitiated by two fundamental considerations. In the first place, the British Labor Party is what it calls itself. It is the party of the industrial workers, whose relative numerical importance is much greater in Great Britain than in this country. The growth of the British Labor Party has been about a body of principles independent of personalities. The Third Party envisaged by LaFollette was to draw its chief strength from the farmers, who in the long run and in all countries are the opponents of radicalism. A common grievance against "Wall Street" was deemed sufficient to cement the farmer and the city worker into a lasting union. But a single favorable crop year has been sufficient to show how tenuous is the bond. A rise of 50 cents in wheat is apparently sufficient to reverse agrarian convictions about the iniquity of the railroads and the interests.

The second vital difference between conditions in this country and in Great Britain is in electoral system. With a popular vote of four millions LaFollette is assured of only 13 votes in the Electoral College. The Third Party offers a warranty of Republican monopoly on the Presidency by splitting up the opposition. Carried all the way down the line of elective offices, this would hold true for Congress also. Realization of this fact will explain why in the face of the Coolidge sweep there have been no gains in Republican Congressmen in New York City.

Assigning LaFollette's possible 15 percent of the popular vote in the nation may be set up the 9 percent of the popular vote secured by Weaver and the Populists in 1892. In that year Weaver won 22 electoral votes, against an indicated 13 for LaFollette recently. But Populism disappeared within four years, as Greenbackism appeared before that. The basic reason is that the permanently radical farmer hardly exists.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mother Goose and the white crow stopped on top of a tower of the castle of the king of Yum Yum Land and peeped over the edge to see what was going on.

"There in the yard leaning up against a tree was Daddy Gander's magic dust-pan, but the old gentleman was nowhere to be seen.

"The very ideal," cried Mrs. Goose. "He could have brought the cook home and then left right away. He didn't need to go inside and make a visit. Nancy and Nick will think he's never coming back."

Sounds of "yum, yum" were coming out of all the windows of the castle, and indeed out of all the houses in Yum Yum Land, because it was dinner time.

"I know what's happened," said the crow. "The king has invited Daddy Gander to stay to dinner. He'll be along soon if we give him time to finish. But you wait here and I'll fly down and look through the dining-room window."

Pretty soon he came back. "Yes, that's it," he said. "The king is at one end of the table and Daddy Gander is at the other end. They're eating great stacks of bread and butter. I heard the king say that never, never had he eaten such bread in his life."

"Oh, that's the bread that Mrs. John set to raise. The bread the cook found and baked into loaves and took home. If it wasn't for that bread, Daddy Gander wouldn't be here."

"He'll soon be through eating,"

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

I really have had no time to write you since I received your letter. I hope you will forgive me for this delay.

I expect you will be more apt to do this for by this time you have heard from Miss Anderson that I directed upon receipt of your letter, I wired her asking her if she would not go back to you. She answered that she would be glad to do so, if I could promise that she would not be bothered with Priscilla Bradford. This I took the liberty of doing.

I also told Miss Anderson that you would probably be going back to your home very soon as she had said that she would prefer a place in the country. I did this because I thought you would want to be among your old friends instead of at a strange hotel after Jack and I have moved over here.

John has been signally honored by my father in his will. He has been made manager of the steel plant and we feel that this is his great opportunity. Consequently we will come over here and make this place our home as soon as possible.

He will probably be back in Albany before you get this letter and tell you all the details.

I am very glad that Mrs. Burke, acting on my wire, did not allow that beautiful old desk which you so generously gave me on my marriage, to be taken to pieces. You should have known that it is almost impossible to get a modern cabinet-maker to reproduce and restore those beautiful old pieces.

I must say in all kindness that I think both you and Miss Bradford overstepped all bounds of propriety in going into my apartment in my absence, or on any excuse whatever presuming to look over and pry into my personal belongings.

I never want to see Miss Bradford again. She is a curious, meddlesome old maid and whenever she is with you she seems in some way to make you feel that everyone is against you when you ought to know that all of us are trying to make you happy and comfortable. You should be one of the happiest women in the world.

I may as well tell you that I shall not interfere at all in regard to Mrs. Burke's behavior toward you. Personally I think she did just right and I am very grateful to her for looking after my interests.

I am very sorry, Mother Prescott, to have to write this letter, but I must put myself right for this once. You must in the future understand that while I shall regard you as Jack's mother I shall allow no interference in my personal affairs.

Little Jack is very well. John will tell you about my father's bequest to him. I gave mother your message. She is bearing up wonderfully under her great sorrow. Nothing has been decided about where we are to live over here except that mother will not live with us. She says "no home is big enough for two families."

Sincerely,
LESLIE.

Is This Your Birthday

THURSDAY, NOV. 13.—You are finding the world a very good place in which to live, and you will be happy throughout the remainder of your life.

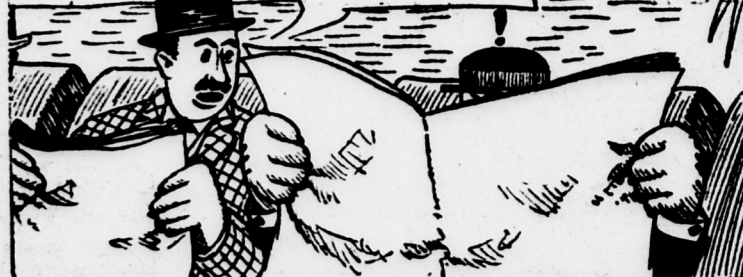

Your habit of building air castles will some day stand you in good stead, for you will see some of your dreams fulfilled.

Always be alert to the possibilities you will be offered, be energetic and cultivate initiative. But be jealous of your health, guard it closely.

WELL, I SEE THERE WAS ANOTHER SUICIDE IN THE CITY. IT CERTAINLY BEATS ALL HOW MANY PEOPLE TAKE THEIR OWN LIVES DOESN'T IT?

THAT'S ALL RIGHT AS A THEORY, BUT I KNOW FOR A FACT THAT ALL THE CRAZY FOLKS DON'T COMMIT SUICIDE!!!

Thinking about where you have been won't get you anywhere.

VOICES FROM THE GRAVE

By Albert Apple

A chain of industrial museums will be established eventually in this country by a big fund provided in the will of Henry R. Towne. He said his purpose was to show the processes of production on which our civilization rests, also the evolution of inventions and industry.

There are only four other important museums of this sort in the world. They are in Paris, Munich, London and Vienna.

A visit to a Towne industrial museum will be highly educational. And it will start a lot of thought. For one thing, it will make us appreciate the conveniences we take for granted and consider commonplace.

The present generation does not realize how fortunate it is. Ask a white-haired old woman who can recall when water was carried in pails instead of through pipes, when there were no gas or electric stoves, and kindling had to be chopped to start a fire.

The thermostat, which automatically regulates the temperature of an office, store, factory or home is magical. So are electric irons, telephone, radio, street car, movies.

There rises in memory of many a reader the day when bath-tubs were scarce, when life in general was a succession of discomforts from the modern viewpoint.

All these would be shown in industrial museums.

We look about at our homes, furniture, autos, fine roads. We thrill with pride and vanity in the belief that all these have been created by our efforts.

"I worked to earn the money, saved up to buy it." Ah, but nine-tenths of these things we use are really legacies from the past. They were made possible by the toil, hardship and courageous struggles of the millions who long since went to the grave. A rich heritage of progress has been handed down to us—and an even richer heritage contributed by men still living or but a few years deceased.

In the last generation we have progressed industrially and scientifically more than the people of 100 generations before. Art does not tell the story. Nor does history, which is mainly the record of wars. Industrial museums could. And they probably will, thanks to the vision of the late Henry R. Towne.

Everything offered in a smart uptown shop seems spread out on the street stands and pushcarts of New York's East Side. Merchandising is done in the streets. Wares are grouped for convenience, some blocks specializing in fish and some in flowers.

New York, Nov. 13.—Girls, if you want romance and adventure, come to New York and become a policeman.

The other night every policeman on the force was assigned to help in a raid of bootleg joints in the Times Square district.

These women were garbed in magnificent evening gowns. They entered cafes on the arms of gallant men in formal black and white. They sat at tables and smiled graciously at waiters. And headwaiters beckoned under-serve and wine was poured—except when horses' necks and gin rickshaws and such things were served.

And then these ladies and their escorts arose and arrested the headwaiters and the under-waiters and marched them out to waiting patrol wagons.

It takes a crook to catch a crook, they say, but along Broadway the saying is that it takes a skirt to catch a bootlegger. Several dozens of prohibition violators were arrested by the lady sleuths.

Here is a new field for women that promises more excitement than the movies ever offered.

The most desolate place in all New York is Times Square at eight o'clock Sunday morning.

A stray taxi....Sore-footed waiters stumbling along to the subway....Garbage cans in front of gilded jazz palaces, reeking with odors....News vendors arranging their morning papers....Dirt and refuse littering the street....A solitary drunk or dope fiend adding his nauseating bit to the sickening picture....Gone are the lights, the shouts and murmurs, the laughter, the gold-diggers, the high-hats, the flesh pots, the greedy, lustful, searching throng....Only drab common places remain....People who labor on Sunday....Dirt....Garbage....

—JAMES W. DEAN.

FABLES ON HEALTH
COMFORT IN BED

"Umm—there's nothing like a comfortable bed when you're not feeling well," Mr. Jones of Anytown would grunt from underneath the covers when indisposition overtook him.

Every good nurse appreciates how important is the element of physical comfort in the psychology of an invalid.

Here are a few things that can be given attention by any woman who wants to make her hubby or children more comfortable during an illness:

Watch the light. Don't let it shine in the patient's eyes.

Be as quiet as possible and don't bring about any overexertion through argument or talk.

If the patient has been lying for any length of time, prop a pillow beneath his knees to relieve the strain on the muscles.

Don't let the covers become oppressively heavy and don't let the patient get too hot.

Have a comfortable bed and changes of sheets.

It doesn't take much to make sick people happy—a few flowers, some little presents, some wholesome article of food, or any one of a dozen things.

A DEATHBED

Her suffering ended with the day; Yet lived she at its close, And breathed the long, long night away, In statue-like repose.

But when the sun, in all his state, Illumed the eastern skies, She pas'd through glory's shining gate, And walk'd in Paradise.

—James Aldrich.

A SONG OF PRAISE

By Julia C. Moffit

When the shades of night are falling
And the light is growing dim;
When you hear night voices calling
Then its time to turn within;
And begin a meditation on the song
Of life sublime,
And thank your dear Creator for
Gifts along the line.

When the dawn breaks and its morning
And a new day has begun;
When your heart is light and joyous,
As a lark singing in the sun;
It is time to raise your own voice
In a song of love and praise,
And thank God for health and
Plenty, in many, many ways.

Do not deprecate the silence
Of God's time and place of rest;
For you'll surely pay the penalty
In lack and poverty's stress;
For there is a time for working, and
For playing too,
And night's the time for praising
God: for being good to you.

Unsuccessful Wives The Slattern

BY CYNTHIA GREY

I went over to my neighbor's, Marie Forbes, the other morning to get my cooky-cutter that she'd borrowed. Margie was sitting at the dining-room table, still in her kimono and bedroom slippers, although it was 10 o'clock.

The table was littered with coffee cups, crumpled napkins and the library book that Margie had been reading.

"I don't know what I'm sitting here for, when I've got a million dishes to wash," she said. "All these and the ones from last night's dinner, besides. But really I'm so blue that I just haven't enough pep to budge."

Then I saw that she had been crying.

"Fred was in one of his mean moods this morning," she went on.

"Men are always grumpy in the morning," I comforted her.

"That's no excuse for them," Margie said briskly. "I'm grumpy, too, but that doesn't give me an excuse not to get up and cheerfully get breakfast without even taking the time to bathe and dress myself."

This was something new to me. I had never heard of a woman getting breakfast in anything but a house-dress or bungalow apron before.

They belong to the same class of clothes that a chef's white cap does.

"Jim should have married one of the reason-not women," Margie said slowly. "He has a fit if I leave the dinner dishes until the next morning."

"But we'd never get to a movie if I had to do all that work."

The house certainly did not look very comfortable. The rugs were wrinkled up, and the chairs were dusty. Even the ferns in their wicker basket seemed bedraggled and sloppy.

Margie led me into the kitchen to find the cooky-cutter. She found it in the lower oven of her gas range. It was quite rusty.

"This house is so damp that everything in it rusts," Margie explained.

I went out through the next back yard toward my own house.

The Forbes have the prettiest lawn of anyone on our street. The vegetable garden, where Fred Forbes works until dark every summer night, is as tidy as a checkboard.

And now I know why he keeps it that way. It's because it's the one and only thing in his home life that's clean and beautiful as it should be.

It's his refuge—from Margie and Margie's house.

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

It took a long time for the very literary essayists to discover the art that lies behind vaudeville clownery, comic strips, jazz bands and the like.

Then, one day, Gilbert Seldes wrote the "Seven Lively Arts" and told New York what every vaudeville goer and comic reader in the rest of the country had known for years. New York learned with amazement that stars of its funniest revues were commonplace vaudeville names about the "provinces."

All of which is by way of preface to a prediction—some day the very literary critics are going to discover Hugh Wiley's "Wildcat Marsden" and Will James' cowboy stuff and realize that here are contributions, not only to the American folklore and background, but to the slang idiom of the time.

For years the four-leaf wildcat has been rambling his way through the darker way through Wiley's short stories. Now he appears in a new volume of tales, "The Prowler" (Knopf), in which effort of plot invention often becomes too apparent, but in which something like justice can be done the character.

Here is fabulous tale-telling of the Paul Bunyan school with a character that could be interpreted in a full chapter of symbolism; the complete fatalist and fatalism are combined in the "wildcat," fate breaks things for him, in spite of himself; he is the minstrel man, the swashbuckler, Al Jolson, and all stage impersonations of the negro put together. His combination of music-order slang and his fatalistic historic are great stuff.

Already the Wildcat's dice-shooting lingo is a slang classic.

Will James in "Cowboys—North and South" (Scribners) does a true-to-life job with the cowboy, giving to posterity his picturesque vernacular and background.

They are recommended for the student of the American scene and tongue.

visions that draw the story to a most colorful crisis.

Sooner or later someone was bound to write the story of the conflict of Germanic and American blood in an Anglo-German at the time of the World War and Robert E. McElure has done it in "The Dominant Blood" (Doubleday, Page). The mother is Teuton, the father is American and the result shows in some admirably written scenes of his adolescence and childhood. He is surely an uncomfortable combination—although this surveyor has seen many such mixed ones who took it in no manner so hard. We understand that both Tarkington has referred to it as "a big, fine piece of work," and who are we—?

Jack Bethen, for some years managing editor of the Birmingham Post, is another newspaperman to turn novelist, his first work being "Red Rock" (Houghton, Mifflin), which, the survey is told, already has been sold to the movie. The scene is laid in the coal mine belts where the young hero decides to come up from the ranks by wedding the daughter of the company president. This he succeeds in doing, but the girl learns his motive, her love turns to hate and there is melodrama to burn in the strike excitement that take place before he has "fought his way back."

The table was littered with coffee cups, crumpled napkins and the library book that Margie had been reading.

"I don't know what I'm sitting here for, when I've got a million dishes to wash," she said. "All these and the ones from last night's dinner, besides. But really I'm so blue that I just haven't enough pep to budge."

Then I saw that she had been crying.

"Fred was in one of his mean moods this morning," she went on.

"Men are always grumpy in the morning," I comforted her.

"That's no excuse for them," Margie said briskly. "I'm grumpy, too, but that doesn't give me an excuse not to get up and cheerfully get breakfast without even taking the time to bathe and dress myself."

This was something new to me. I had never heard of a woman getting breakfast in anything but a house-dress or bungalow apron before.

They belong to the same class of clothes that a chef's white cap does.

"I'm shocked," she said, "at one of these poison-net women."

"He has a fit if I leave the dinner dishes until the next morning."

"But we'd never get to a movie if I had to do all that work."

The house certainly did not look very comfortable. The rugs were wrinkled up, and the chairs were dusty. Even the ferns in their wicker basket seemed bedraggled and sloppy.

Margie led me into the kitchen to find the cooky-cutter. She found it in the lower oven of her gas range.

"This house is so damp that everything in it rusts," Margie explained.

I went out through the neat back yard toward my own house.

The Forbes have the prettiest lawn of anyone on our street. The vegetable garden, where Fred Forbes works until dark every summer night, is as tidy as a checkboard.

And now I know why he keeps it that way. It's because it's the one and only thing in his home life that's clean and beautiful as it should be.

It's his refuge—from Margie and Margie's house.

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

It took a long time for the very literary essays to discover the art that lies behind vaudeville clownery, comic strips, jazz bands and the like.

Then, one day, Gilbert Seldes wrote the "Seven Lively Arts" and told New York what every vaudeville goer and comic reader in the rest of the country had known for years. New York learned with amazement that stars of its funniest revues were commonplace vaudeville names about the "provinces."

All of which is by way of preface to a prediction—some day the very literary critics are going to discover Hugh Wiley's "Wildcat Marsden" and will learn with amazement that here are contributions, not only to the American folklore and background, but to the slang idiom of the time.

For years "the four-leaf wildcat" has been rambling his good natured, darkey way through Wiley's short stories. Now he appears in a new volume of tales, "The Frowler" (Knopf), in which effort of plot invention often becomes too apparent, but in which something like justice can be done the character.

Here is fabulous tale-telling of the Paul Bunyan school with a character that could be interpreted in a full chapter of symbolism; the complete fatalist and fatalism are combined in the "wildcat"; fate breaks things for him, in spite of himself; he is the minstrel man, the swashbuckler, Al Jolson, and all stage impersonations of the negro put together. His combination of made-to-order slang and hifalutin rhetoric are great stuff.

Already the Wildcat's dice-shooting lingo is a slang classic.

Will James in "Cowboys—North and South" (Scribners) does a true-to-life job with the cowboy, giving to posterity his picturesque vernacular and background.

They are recommended for the student of the American scene and tongue.

"Shackled" (Brentano), by Achmed Abdullah is far and away the most colorful writing in many a week. No sheikhs and nautch gals, we warn you. Rather a well-born Arab girl, whose father wishes her to marry none but a descendant of the "prophet." This man does not present himself. The father dies penniless and she has only herself to sell. A family conference decides that she is to be educated, but this she resents, because education is thought in her land to be only for the poor clerical classes. Her tutor brings the heart complicity.

cations that draw the story to a most colorful crisis.

Sooner or later someone was bound to write the story of the conflict of Germanic and American bloods in an Anglo-German at the time of the World War and Robert E. McClure has done it in "The Dominant Blood" (Doubleday, Page). The mother is Teuton, the father is American and the result shows in some admirably written scenes of his adolescence and childhood. He is surely an uncomfortable combination—although this surveyor has seen many such mixed ones who took it in no manner so hard. We understand that Booth Tarkington has referred to it as "a big, fine piece of work," and who are we—?

Jack Bethes, for some years managing editor of the Birmingham Post, is another newspaperman to turn novelist, his first work being "Bed Rock" (Houghton, Mifflin), which, the survey is told, already has been sold to the movie. The scene is laid in the coal mine belts where the young hero decides to come up from the ranks by wedding the daughter of the company president. This he succeeds in doing, but the girl learns his motive, her love turns to hate and there is melodrama to burn in the strike excitement that take place before he has "fought his way back."

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ON MAKING THE MILL PAY
It is the state-owned mill and elevator at Grand Forks, N. D., that has lost a great deal of money, and because the practical side appeals, the losses have been emphasized in the public mind. But should the state-owned mill and elevator be able to make some profit, it still would be a subversion of our principles of government for the state to continue a competitive business.

The losses and profits of the state milling business cannot be counted on the balance sheet alone. It should not be forgotten that mills at Jamestown, Bismarck and Valley City, in private hands, were closed chiefly because of competition by the state mill; that the cooperative flour mill at Sentinel Butte suffered so that it does not now show substantial profit; that other small mills in the state are operating because of the big state institution which is given an unfair advantage over private business. The loss to the communities where the state mill has destroyed or retarded business development could not be counterbalanced by the showing of a profit in the state mill. There is no advantage in market facilities in one big state mill to offset the advantages of many small ones.

The Tribune, therefore, cannot subscribe to any doctrine which would require one elective officer to subordinate himself to another on the ground that a popular mandate had been rendered on the subject of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks. No such mandate was given in the recent election. Both candidates for Governor were pledged to conduct the mill on business lines. The majority given Mr. Sorlie is not sufficient to draw a conclusion that the mill and elevator were uppermost in the minds of the voters.

Mr. Sorlie is charged with conducting his office to the best of his ability and according to law. So are the other two members of the Industrial Commission, of opposite politics, who may claim a mandate to continue the industries as they now are being run.

Cooperation is due all public officials in honest endeavor. A policy of obstruction for political purposes alone is improper. Nor should pitfalls be placed before any official or indirectly.

With the voters of North Dakota electing a new member of the Industrial Commission who says he can make the mill pay, and re-electing two members—the majority—under whom the mill has not paid, the fairer conclusion to draw would be that the voters were not greatly influenced by the mill and elevator. With this premise, the discussion of the project hereafter should be first as to principle and second as to its benefits to the farmers of the state regardless of its financial report.

A DETERMINED SPIRIT

The rise of Magnus Johnson in Minnesota to the Senatorship was spectacular, but not so impressive as the triumph of Thomas D. Schall, who not only conquered the stiffest sort of political opposition but overcame a natural handicap. He became totally blind in 1907 through a trivial incident. At that time he was a struggling young lawyer, 30 years old, married, possessed of education gained in the University of Minnesota and St. Paul College of Law but lacking clients.

One might imagine Thomas D. Schall giving up his career and seeking existence in the best way he could. A hardly more terrific misfortune could have overtaken him at the outset of his career at the bar. But he did not quit. A new determination was born in him. He continued his law business, enlarged his activities to include politics, and eventually he became a member of the national House of Representatives. Now the blind lawyer has defeated a strong candidate for the United States Senatorship and takes an important place in national affairs.

There are other instances on record of men and women triumphing over natural handicaps. The late example in the success of Mr. Schall may prove a spur to thousands of others who have been unfortunate at nature's hands. It is an example of the achievement of dogged determination.

SHRINKING

American railroads have about 250,000 miles of tracks. In eight years there was a shrinkage of over 1000 miles. With the country growing, railroads should be extending instead of abandoning trackage. Yet even a greater transportation problem is in inadequacy of terminals, particularly for freight. The trouble is less in the haul than in loading and unloading and switching where traffic congests in cities.

BOOZE

In three years Uncle Sam's sleuths have arrested 177,000 for violating the prohibition law. That's 59,000 a year—or one out of every 1900 Americans. Which certainly is a very small fraction of the sellers and drinkers.

Prohibition cannot be successful until the campaign against liquor reverts to what it used to be—educational, rather than an abstract plea to obey the law. The educational campaign was dropped too soon.

AIRPLANE

Americans soon will be building their own airplanes at home, the same as they assemble radio sets, an aviation expert predicts. He says that in 1925 it will be possible to have a practical, home-made flying flivver for an outlay of $500.

This is a fascinating prospect, even though many will believe that life insurance salesmen are backing the buy-an-plane movement.

CHEAPER THAN FORDS

Henry Ford is quoted as saying that small airplanes can be built cheaper than Ford cars. It would depend on the size of the market—quantity production.

One advantage of using flying machines instead of motorcars is that we would get away from the terrific tax burden of road building and eternal resurfacing.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are printed here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

LA FOLLETTE AND RADICALISM

(New York Times)

A LaFollette popular vote of four millions would be a fair enough start toward the building up of a Third Party, provided there were a coherent body of principles to guarantee that the four million votes would stay put and attract other votes. No such guarantee is deducible from Tuesday's poll. LaFollette's showing in the Northwest has demonstrated that the sentiment upon which he built is not a convinced and permanent radicalism but largely a temporary discontent. He sought to capitalize the spirit of agrarian unrest. The speed with which that discontent subsides is familiar. LaFollette himself, with a mere handful of electoral votes, and Brookhart and Magnus Johnson, either defeated or battling desperately for their political lives, are sufficient proof of the unstable farmer foundation upon which the Third Party was to rest.

The Labor vote for LaFollette in the East and Middle West also offers no permanent guarantee. As concerns New York, the most important of the industrial States, it is established that the Labor vote is not transferable by labor leaders. LaFollette's vote of 287,000 in Greater New York invites analysis. Four years ago Debs polled 131,000 Socialist votes in the city. Subtract these from LaFollette's total, and subtract further the considerable German vote which his stand on the Treaty of Versailles attracted, and 100,000 would be a generous allowance for the Labor votes which Mr. Gomper's endorsement brought him. This would be one-seventh of the reputed membership of the American Federation of Labor in New York City. In the State as a whole LaFollette may have received 400,000 votes, against Debs' vote of 293,000 four years ago. With the same deduction, we gather that LaFollette confided no stronger pull on the industrial population up-State than he did in New York City.

Speculation favorable to a Third Party has drawn heavily upon the British example. But the parallel is vitiated by two fundamental considerations. In the first place, the British Labor Party is what it calls itself. It is the party of the industrial workers, whose relative numerical importance is much greater in Great Britain than in this country. The growth of the British Labor Party has been about a body of principles independent of personalities. The Third Party envisaged by LaFollette was to draw its chief strength from the farmers, who in the long run and in all countries are the opponents of radicalism. A common grievance against "Wall Street" was deemed sufficient to cement the farmer and the city worker into a lasting union. But a single favorable crop year has been sufficient to show how tenuous is the bond. A rise of 50 cents in wheat is apparently sufficient to sweep away agrarian convictions about the iniquity of the railroads and the interests.

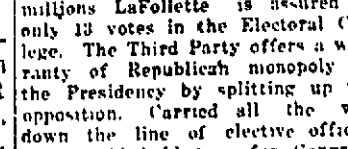

The second vital difference between conditions in this country and in Great Britain is in electoral system. With a popular vote of four millions LaFollette is assured of only 13 votes in the Electoral College. The Third Party offers a warranty of Republican monopoly on the Presidency by splitting the way opposition.

LaFollette's career all the way down the line of elective offices, this would hold true for Congress also. Realization of this fact will explain why in the face of the "Coolidge sweep there have been no gains in Republican Congressmen in New York City.

Against LaFollette's possible 13 percent of the popular vote in the nation may be set up the percentage of the popular vote secured by Woodrow Wilson and the Populists in 1912. In that year Wilson indicated 13 for LaFollette recently. But Populism disappeared within four years, as Greenbackism appeared before that. The basic reason is that the permanently radical farmer hardly exists.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Metner Goose and the white crow stepped on top of a tower of the castle of the king of Yum Yum Land and crept over the edge to see what was going on.

There in the yard leaning up against a tree was Daddy Gander's magic dust-pan, but the old gentleman was nowhere to be seen.

"The very best!" cried Mrs. Goose. "He could have brought the cook horse and then left right away. He didn't need to go inside and make a visit. Nanner and Nick will think he's never coming back."

Sounds of "Yum Yum" were coming out of all the windows of the castle, and indeed out of all the houses in Yum Yum Land, because it was dinner time.

"I know what's happened," said the crow. "The king has invited Daddy Gander to stay to dinner. He'll be along soon if we give him time to finish. But you wait here and I'll fly down and look through the dining-room window."

"Pretty that's it," he said. "The king is at one end of the table and Daddy Gander is at the other end. They're eating great stacks of bread and butter. I heard the king say that never, never had he eaten such bread in his life."

"Oh, that's the bread that Mrs. John set to raise. The bread the cook found and baked into loaves and took home. If it wasn't for that bread, Daddy Gander wouldn't be here."

"Be'll soon be through eating."

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

I really have had no time to write you since I received your letter. I hope you will forgive me for this delay.

I expect you will be more apt to do this for by this time you have heard from Miss Alder-on that directly upon receipt of your letter, I wired her asking her if she would not go back to you. She answered that she would be glad to do so, if I could promise that she would not be bothered with Priscilla Bradford. This I took the liberty of doing.

I also told Miss Alder-on that you would probably be going back to your home very soon as she had said that she would prefer a place in the country. I did this because I thought you would want to be among your old friends instead of at a strange hotel after Jack and I have moved over here.

John has been signally honored by my father in his will. He has also been made manager of the steel plant and we feel that this is his great opportunity. Consequently we will come over here and make this place our home as soon as possible.

He will probably be back in Albany before you get this letter and tell you all the details.

I am very glad that Mrs. Burke, acting on my wire, did not allow that beautiful old desk which you so generously gave me on my marriage, to be taken to pieces. You should have known that it is almost impossible to get a modern cabinet-maker to renovate and restore those beautiful old pieces.

I must say in all kindness that I think both you and Miss Bradford overstepped all bounds of propriety in going into my apartment in my absence, or on any excuse whatever presuming to look over and pry into my personal belongings.

VOICES FROM THE GRAVE

By Albert Apple

A chain of industrial museums will be established eventually in this country by a big fund provided in the will of Henry R. Towne. He said his purpose was to show the processes of production on which our civilization rests, also the evolution of inventions and industry.

There are only four other important museums of this sort in the world. They are in Paris, Munich, London and Vienna.

A visit to a Towne industrial museum will be highly educational. And it will start a lot of thought. For one thing, it will make us appreciate the conveniences we take for granted and consider commonplace.

The present generation does not realize how fortunate it is. Ask a white-haired old woman who can recall when water was carried in pails instead of through pipes, when there were no gas or electric stoves, and kindling had to be chopped to start a fire.

The thermostat, which automatically regulates the temperature of an office, store, factory or home is magical. So are electric irons, telephone, radio, street car, movies.

There rises in memory of many a reader the day when bath-tubs were scarce, when life in general was a succession of discomforts from the modern viewpoint.

All these would be shown in industrial museums.

We look about at our homes, furniture, autos, fine roads. We thrill with pride and vanity in the belief that all these have been created by our efforts.

"I worked to earn the money, saved up to buy it."

Ah, but nine-tenths of these things we use are really legacies from the past. They were made possible by the toil, hardship and courageous struggles of the millions who long since went to the grave. A rich heritage of progress has been handed down to us—and an even richer heritage contributed by men still living or but a few years deceased.

In the last generation we have progressed industrially and scientifically more than the people of 100 generations before. Art does not tell the story. Nor does history, which is mainly the record of wars. Industrial museums could. And they probably will, thanks to the vision of the late Henry R. Towne.

Everything offered in a smart uptown shop seems spread out on the street stands and pushcarts of New York's East Side. Merchandising is done in the streets. Wares are grouped for convenience, some blocks specializing in fish and some in floss wares.

New York, Nov. 13.—Girls, if you want romance and adventure, come to New York and become a policewoman.

The other night every policewoman on the force was assigned to help in a raid of bootleg joints in the Times Square district.

These women were garbed in magnificent evening gowns. They entered cafes on the same of gallant men in formal black and white. They sat at tables and smiled graciously at headwaiters. And headwaiters beckoned under-serve and wine was poured—except when horses' necks and gin rickies and such things were served.

And then these ladies and their escorts arose and arrested the headwaiters and the under-waiters and marched them out to waiting patrol wagons.

It takes a crook to catch a crook, they say, but along Broadway the saying is that it takes a skirt to catch a bootlegger. Several dozen of prohibition violators were arrested by the lady sleuths.

Here is a new field for women that promises more excitement than the movies ever offered.

The most desolate place in all New York is Times Square at eight o'clock Sunday morning.

A stray taxi....Sore-footed waiters stumbling along to the subway....Garbage cans in front of gilded jazz palaces, reeking with odors....News vendors arranging their morning papers....Dirt and refuse littering the street....A solitary drunk or dope fiend adding his nauseating bit to the sickening picture....Gone are the lights, the shouts and murmurs, the laughter, the gold-diggers, the high-bats, the flesh pots, the greedy, lustful, scorching throng....Only a few commonplace remain....Only a few people who labor on Sunday....Dirt....Garbage....

FIRPO LOSES TO WEINERT

South American Is Outpointed by Smart Boxer

Newark, N. J., Nov. 13.—Charley Weinert, Newark heavyweight, outpointed Luis Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, in a 12 round, no-decision match in the Newark armory last night, in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside.

BALL PLAYERS MAY BE GIVEN CUT IN SALE

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Ball players who are sold at fabulous sums will receive part of the purchase price, if a suggestion as to a change in the rules is adopted at the annual joint meeting of the major leagues in New York next month. The proposal was submitted to Commissioner Landis by the Philadelphia Athletics and asks that when a player is sold for $10,000 or more the player shall receive 10 percent of the money involved. The proposal among others was sent to all major league club owners for their consideration prior to the winter gathering.

Players at present are paid such amounts as the interested clubs decide at time of transfer.

The New York Yankees have submitted a proposal which would restrict major league clubs to 50 players, exclusive of ineligible or voluntarily retired players, prior to June 15, but providing that the number must be reduced between that date and Aug. 31, to 25 active players.

Another proposal provides that no player would be assigned outright to a minor league until all the major league clubs have been given an opportunity to assume the contract of the player.

Major league clubs would be permitted to send players to the minors on optional agreements for five years instead of two, as at present, if another suggestion is adopted.

SPORTS SORTS

Harry Greb seldom trains seriously for a fight, yet he continues to win with regularity.

Billy Gibson is now managing Charley O'Connell, a lightweight originally developed by Jimmy Dunn.

Walter Hagen draws $30,000 a year from a golf club in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Tex Rickard says the only fight he gets a real kick out of are those between heavyweights.

Freddie Lamprecht, playing full-back for Tulane, is one of the best golfers in the middle west.

Sam Felton, who starred as a kicker at Harvard, is a golfer of no mean ability.

Manager Lee Fohl of the Boston Red Sox believes he has picked up a prize in Outfielder Williams from Mobile.

The members of the Philadelphia Athletics think Sam Gray, a member of the A's hurling staff, is the best pitching recruit of 1924.

Coach Zupke of Illinois is a great believer in boxing and wrestling as good football training.

Minnesota, with a powerful backfield, has "diveballed" as a scoring machine. Perhaps it's the line.

Jenkins of Ohio State is one of the best tacklers of the year in "Big Ten" circles. He's big, fast and a sure tackler.

Although off, defeated, the Army and Navy struggle this year will be none the less interesting. The Army is favored to win.

In Thomas and McCarthy, Chicago has two line crushing backs. However, Stagg's eleven seems to lack a speed merchant in the backfield.

With the passing of "Bo" McMillen, "Red" Roberts and Coach Charley Moran, the Centre College football team lost much of its color and most of its grid prestige.

Walter Camp has only one half-back position to worry him on his All-American for this year. "Red" Grange has already clinched the other.

RIGHT ARM 800 INCHES STRONGER

Javelin Throwing Champion Falls That Much Shy of World Mark in Throw With Left Arm

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Gunnar Lindstrom of Sweden has just broken the world record for throwing the javelin, with a mark of 66.62 meters. The old record was 66.10 meters, held by John Myrta of Finland.

Myrta won the Olympic championship last July. Lindstrom was second in the event.

A javelin, if perchance you haven't yet met one face to face, is a long steel-tipped spear and is thrown with a swishing arm movement somewhat after the manner of a ball thrown from the outfield.

For years the Swedes and the Finns have monopolized top honors in the event. Myrta's old mark, for instance, was made five years ago. Until Lindstrom came along Myrta was considered the wonder man of the spears. The Ty Cobb of that sport.

Lindstrom is probably even more remarkable than the old champion. The Swede is ambidextrous. On the same day he set a new world record with his right hand he flung the spear 46.55 with his left, two-handed aggregate of 113.17 meters.

This indicates, among other things, that a man trained for the purpose has nearly 800 inches more throwing power in his right arm than his left. Lindstrom hurled the lance more than 30 meters farther with his right. A meter, as you know, is a fraction more than 39 inches.

What would the ambidextrous Swede do in this country as a baseball pitcher or a forward passer on the gridiron?

What would be the effect on a batter facing a pitcher capable of throwing a ball with equal power with either hand, and not knowing in advance

well he, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon."

Any night golfer scoring the daylight equivalent of a birdie, eagle or cuckoo shall be credited with an owl.

Night golf opens a prolific field for brand-new abisms, to wit: "I'd had a three at the seventh if the darn fuse hadn't blown out."

"How in the name of Cleopatra's pet asp can you expect a guy to put with all them owls hooting!"

"Well it that milkman hadn't yelled 'whoa' just as I started to shoot you'd seen something."

"This is the worst course I ever saw. I'm going to report the electrician to the house committee."

"I'd just as soon have a gun go off back of my ear as an alarm clock. There ought to be a law against caddies carrying them."

Night golf has its drawbacks. . . . An actor playing a New York course stepped into one of the floodlights and took so many bows the coppers had to be called to straighten out the congestion.

The energetic American golfer now works in triple shifts, on a 24-hour basis. . . . This ought to make the steel rollers and bricklayers of the country feel pretty small.

The well-dressed night golfer will always appear at the first tee in hand-tailored pajamas. . . . The old-fashioned flannel night gown is out.

The Prince of Wales is expected to knock 'em stiff at night golf. . . . The kid never seemed able to get up in time to play a game of golf.

Night golfers who are three sheets to the wind are advised to remain away from the course. . . . Some one may mistake them for klansmen.

Several Clubs Anxious To Trade For Pitcher Shocker

By NEA Service

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—Urban Shocker, generally considered the smartest pitcher in the American League, is said to be on the market.

Report has it that the St. Louis Browns would listen to any trade talk that would give that club anything like a fifty-fifty break.

Shocker, it will be remembered, did not sign with the Browns until just before the opening of the season. He had asked Judge Landis to declare him a free agent, because he had been heavily fined for insisting on taking his wife on an eastern trip of the club.

No doubt Shocker did not have his heart in his work last year, because of this trouble. The season's record would make it seem that way. Shocker, it is said, would like to play for his old manager, Lee Fohl. No doubt George Sisler would listen to a trade that would give him Howard Ehmke. It is doubtful if he would be interested in any one else on the Red Sox club.

Several other American League clubs no doubt will try to outbid Boston if Shocker is placed on the market.

EXHIBITS TO CHICAGO

The National Hay and Grain Show to be held at Chicago, beginning December 10, will have an exhibit from Morton county, according to Secretary Ketter of the Commercial club. The Morton county exhibits now on display at the state corn show in Bismarck will be sent to Chicago. In addition several other prize winning samples of grain and vegetable products will be gathered and sent on as soon as possible.

PRaises STAGE IN BISMARCK

Can Give Full Performance Here, Says Manager

The stage and mechanical arrangement of the Auditorium here is exceptional in a theater in a city the size of Bismarck, according to J. Francis Smith, business manager for Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, here to make final arrangements for the appearance of Miss St. Denis' company on November 22.

"After looking over the theater I can assure you Miss St. Denis and her company can give as fine a performance here as in New York City," said Mr. Smith. "There is exceptional equipment and the size of the stage will make it possible for us to use all of our beautiful draperies and scenery."

Miss St. Denis will appear at Fargo, and at the Valley City State Normal Auditorium, before coming to Bismarck. From here she goes to Billings, Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles, then to Miami, Florida, and back to Detroit, Michigan, for a return engagement, playing at important cities en route. Mr. Smith said that the return engagement was booked in Detroit because the "standing room only" sign was hung out when the company appeared there last week.

The production, he said, is nicely balanced between the purely artistic and the "peppy" musical show, there being beauty, comedy and action in the show to make it appeal to everyone. Many of the costumes, he said, were obtained in Europe.

EDUCATION TO BE STRESSED DURING WEEK

American Education Week Is Decreed Week of November 12 to 23

SPECIAL DAYS NAMED

American Education Week is to be observed in North Dakota, from November 17 to 23, and will be observed in other states. The American Legion, the National Education Association and the United States Bureau of Education, have combined to further the interests of education during this period.

Monday, November 17, is designated "Constitution Day"; November 18, "Patriotism Day"; November 19, "School and Teacher Day"; November 20, "Literacy Day"; November 21, "Physical Education Day"; and Saturday, November 22, "Community Day." Sunday, November 23, is designated "For God and Country Day." Observance of the week in North Dakota is urged by Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction; the commander of the American Legion, educators' organizations and civic organizations.

The anti-illiteracy campaign is being emphasized by the State Department of Education, a bulletin stating: "During the past year over six thousand adults were enrolled in the night schools in North Dakota. The percentage of illiteracy in North Dakota has been reduced to less than one per cent. Golden Valley County has the distinction of being the first county in the state to wipe out illiteracy entirely. Twelve counties have less than ten adults who cannot read or write in any language. In Morton County fifteen night schools were conducted in the rural communities. The teachers received no additional compensation for their services. Four night schools were operated on the Indian Reservation at Belcourt. One school had in attendance not only the Indians of the reservation, but Greeks and Syrians who are now settled on the reservation. The teachers in the rural communities in McIntosh County conducted a number of night schools. As a result of the instruction in an evening school conducted by business women all of those enrolled took out their citizenship papers."

COW DECORATED

Cheltenham, England, Nov. 13.—A cow being driven through the streets of Cheltenham suddenly chased its driver and then attacked two men on bicycles. Both hurriedly dismounted and the cow, with the two bicycles on its horns, dashed down the road and charged a billboard. The machines were totally wrecked.

PAIR WANTED IN N. D. MAY BE TRIED IN S. D.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 13.—Two men, Fred Cline, alias "Whitey" Cline, and John Linden, alias "Devils-Lake Red," were arrested in Corcoran county, west of here Monday and were brought to Aberdeen for safe-keeping. They probably will be charged with robbery of the Morrisstown, S. D., bank on the night of Nov. 6. The bank was robbed of $6,000 in silver and currency.

The pair was arrested after their car had gone into the ditch west of the Missouri river. Linden had over $2,000 in his possession when arrested.

Both Cline and Linden are under five year sentence in North Dakota for burglary. Linden escaped from Mercer county jail at Stanton, N. D., where he was held on a burglary charge. Cline escaped from the jail at Bismarck, N. D., several months ago while being held preparatory to being sent to the state penitentiary at Bismarck. Cline is also wanted for the robbery of the Onaka, S. D., bank in Faulk county.

SIX USES FOR MOTOR BUS

By NEA Service

New York, Nov. 13.—A. J. Brosseau, director of the National Chamber of Commerce, outlines the following profitable uses for motor buses when linked with electric railway operation:

1. In thin traffic regions, where business does not warrant investment in railway equipment.
2. In heavy traffic areas to handle local passengers.
3. In light traffic hours when costs of power station operation can be saved.
4. In developing new territory, as feeders to rail routes.
5. In city transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.
6. In interurban transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.

BLUE SHOES LUCKY

London, Nov. 13.—Blue shoes for luck will be fashionable for autumn weddings. White fox and ermine furs are being used as trimming for gowns and trains, and bridesmaids and mothers of the bride and bridegroom are wearing toques to match the floral decorations.

NEW JOB FOR WOMEN

Paris, Nov. 13.—Parisian society has developed a new profession for women—dinner tasting. The dinner taster is a product of Parisian refinement and spends a part of each day visiting houses and tasting dishes intended for dinner. She suggests improvements and shows the cook new ways of preparing dishes.

WHEAT RISES HIGH TODAY

Touches New Levels in the Early Trading

Chicago, Nov. 18.—With buying in progress on a big scale wheat quickly advanced today to new high price records for the season. The opening which ranged from one to 2 1/2c higher, December $1.53 1/2 to $1.54 and May $1.61 to $1.62 was followed by decided further gains. May delivery of wheat went to about 19 cents above figures current 10 days back. Profit-taking sales were heavy but had little effect on prices except for a rather pronounced downturn at the last. The close was unsettled, 1 1/4 to 3/8 cents net higher, December $1.54 7/8 to $1.55 and May $1.62 to $1.63.

FIRPO LOSES TO WEINERT

South American Is Outpointed by Smart Boxer

Newark, Nov. 12.—Charles Weinert, Newark heavyweight, outpointed Firpo, Argentine heavy weight, in a 12 round, no-decision match in the Newark arena. In the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside.

BALL PLAYERS MAY BE GIVEN CUT IN SALE

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Ball players who are sold at fabulous sums will receive part of the purchase price, if a suggestion as to a change in the rules is adopted at the annual joint meeting of the major leagues in New York next month. The proposal was submitted to a committee of landholders by the Philadelphia Athletics, and asks that when a player is sold for $100,000 or more the player shall receive 10 percent of the money involved. The proposal among other things was sent to all major league club owners for their consideration prior to the winter gathering.

Players at present are paid such amounts as the interested clubs decide at time of transfer.

The New York Yankees have submitted a proposal which would restrict major league clubs to 50 players, exclusive of ineligible or voluntarily retired players, prior to June 15, but provides that the number must be reduced between that date and Aug. 31, to 25 active players.

Another proposal provides that no player would be assigned outright to a minor league until all the major league clubs have been given an opportunity to assume the contract of the player.

Major league clubs would be permitted to sell players to the minors on optional agreements for five years, in lieu of two, as at present, if an other suggestion is adopted.

RIGHT ARM 800 INCHES STRONGER

By JOE WILLIAMS

Gunnar Lindstrom of Sweden has just broken the world record in throwing the javelin, with a mark of 66.62 meters. The old record was 66.10 meters, held by John Myra of Finland.

Myra won the Olympic championship last July. Lindstrom was second in the event.

A javelin, if perchance you haven't met one face to face, is a long, steel-tipped spear and is thrown with a swishing arm movement somewhat after the manner of a ball thrown from the outfield.

For years the Swedes and the Finns have monopolized top honors in the event. Myra's old mark, for instance, was made five years ago. Until Lindstrom came along Myra was considered the wonder man of the spear. The U. S. Club at that sport.

Lindstrom is probably even more remarkable than the old champion. The Swede is ambidextrous. On the same day he set a new world record with his right hand he flung the spear 46.55 with his left, two-hand aggregate of 113.17 meters.

This indicates, among other things, that a man trained for the purpose has nearly 800 inches more throwing power in his right arm than his left. Lindstrom hurled the lance more than 20 meters farther with his right. A meter, as you know is a fraction more than 39 inches.

What would the ambidextrous Swede do in this country as a base ball pitcher or a forward passer on the gridiron?

What would be the effect on a batter facing a pitcher capable of throwing a ball with equal power with either hand, and not knowing in advance

Any night golfer scoring the daylight equivalent of a birdie, eagle or cuckoo shall be credited with an owl.

Night golf opens a prolific field for brand-new gibes, to wit:

"I'd had a three at the seventh if the darn fuse hadn't blown out."

"How in the name of Ctesopatra's pet asp can you expect a guy to putt with all them owls hooting?"

"Well, it's that milkman hadn't yelled 'whoa' just as I started to shoot you'd seen something."

"This is the worst course I ever saw. I'm going to report the electrician to the house committee."

"I'd just as soon have a gun go off back of my ear as a night-golfer there ought to be a law against caddies carrying them."

Night golf has its drawbacks. An actor playing a New York covey stepped into one of the floodlights and took so many bows the coppers had to be called to straighten out the congestion.

The energetic American golfer now works in triple shifts, on a 24-hour basis. "This ought to make the steel rollers and bricklayers of the country feel pretty small."

The well-dressed night golfer will always appear at the first tee in hand-tailored pajamas. The old-fashioned flannel night gown is out.

The Prince of Wales is expected to knock 'em stiff at night golf. The kid never seemed able to get up in time to play a game of day golf.

Night golfers who are three sheets to the wind are advised to remain away from the course. Some one may mistake them for klan-men.

Several Clubs Anxious To Trade For Pitcher Shocker

By NEA Service

St. Louis, Nov. 12.—Urban Shocker, generally considered the smartest pitcher in the American League, is said to be on the market.

Report has it that the St. Louis Browns would listen to any trade talk that would give them a pitcher like a fifty-fifty break.

Shocker, it will be remembered, did not sign with the Browns until just before the opening of the season. He had asked Judge Landis to declare him a free agent, because he had been heavily fined for insisting on taking his wife on an eastern trip of the club.

No doubt Shocker did not have his heart in his work last year because of this trouble. The season's record would make it seem that way. Shocker, it is said, would like to play for his old manager, Lee Fohl. No doubt George Sisler would listen to a trade that would give him Howard Ehmke. It is doubtful if he would be interested in any one else on the Red Sox club.

Several other American League clubs no doubt will try to outbid Boston if Shocker is placed on the market.

AUTO THEFT RING BROKEN

North Dakota Man Confesses To Part In It

Minot, N. D., Nov. 12.—Three men are under arrest, two in Minneapolis and one in Minot, who will be taken to that city, and a ring of automobile thieves which has been stealing cars in the twin cities and funneling them to North Dakota is believed to have been broken, as a result of the recovery recently near Minot of three stolen Minneapolis automobiles.

John Harchanko, farmer, residing 10 miles north of Benedict, N. D., who is held in the Ward county jail awaiting his transportation to Minneapolis to face formal charges, has confessed to being implicated in the theft ring, according to authorities. One of the automobiles, a Dodge touring car, was found at Harchanko's farm.

Variety of Cars

The numbers on all of the machines, the other two being Chevrolet and Ford touring cars, had been changed, according to Deputy Sheriff W. C. Rustad of Minot, who with an insurance company detective and a department of justice agent, recovered the automobiles.

One of the automobiles, according to the officials, was in the possession of Harchanko's father and the third car was found on the farm of a neighbor, who had obtained the car in a trade with a brother-in-law of Harchanko.

Revelation of the alleged ring of car thieves came in a confession alleged to have been obtained in Minneapolis from Harley Christianson, said to be a former resident of Minot, who was arrested in that city. He was arrested by the name of Victor Devolin, who is said to have altered the numbers on the cars, are now held by Minneapolis authorities.

PAIR WANTED IN N. D. MAY BE TRIED IN S. D.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 12.—Two men, Fred Cline, alias "Whitey" Cline, and John Linden, alias "Devils-Lake Red" were arrested in Corson county, west of here Monday and were brought to Aberdeen for safe-keeping. They probably will be charged with the robbery of the Morris town, S. D., bank on the night of Nov. 6. The bank was robbed of $8,000 in silver and currency.

The pair was arrested after their car had gone into the ditch west of the Missouri river. Linden had over $2,000 in his possession when arrested.

Both Cline and Linden are under five year sentence in North Dakota for burglary. Linden escaped from Mercer county jail at Stanton, N. D., where he was held on a burglary charge. Cline escaped from the jail at Rugby, N. D., several months ago while being held preparatory to being sent to the state penitentiary at Bismarck. Cline is also wanted for the robbery of the Oaaka, S. D., bank in Faulk county.

SIX USES FOR MOTOR BUS

By NEA Service

New York, Nov. 12.—A. J. Brosseau, director of the National Chamber of Commerce, outlines the following profitable uses for motor buses when linked with electric railway operation:

1. In this traffic regions, where business does not warrant investment in railway equipment.
2. In heavy traffic areas to handle local passengers.
3. In light traffic hours when costs of power station operation can be saved.
4. In developing new territory, as feeders to rail routes.
5. In city transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.
6. In interurban transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.

PRaises STAGE IN BISMARCK

Can Give Full Performance Here, Says Manager

The stage and mechanical arrangement of the Auditorium here is exceptional in a theater in a city the size of Bismarck, according to J. Francis Smith, business manager for Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, here today to make final arrangements for the appearance of Miss St. Denis' company on November 22.

"After looking over the theater I can assure you Miss St. Denis and her company can give as fine a performance here as in New York City," said Mr. Smith. "There is exceptional equipment and the size of the stage will make it possible for us to use all of our beautiful draperies and scenery."

Miss St. Denis will appear at Fargo, and at the Valley City State Normal Auditorium, before coming to Bismarck. From here she goes to Billings, Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, San Francisco and Los Angeles, then to Miami, Florida, and back to Detroit, Michigan, for a return engagement, playing at important cities en route. Mr. Smith said that the return engagement was booked in Detroit because the "standing room only" sign was hung out when the company appeared there last week.

The production, he said, is nicely balanced between the purely artistic and the "peppy" musical show, there being beauty, comedy and action in the show to make it appeal to everyone. Many of the costumes, he said, were obtained in Europe.

EDUCATION TO BE STRESSED DURING WEEK

American Education Week Is Decried Week of November 12 to 23

SPECIAL DAYS NAMED

American Education Week is to be observed in North Dakota, from November 17 to 23, and will be observed in other states. The American Legion, the National Education Association and the United States Bureau of Education, have combined to further the interests of education during this period.

Monday, November 17, is designated "Constitution Day"; November 18, "Nationalism Day"; November 19, "School and Teacher Day"; November 20, "Literacy Day"; November 21, "Physical Education Day"; and Saturday, November 22, "Community Day." Sunday, November 23, is designated "For God and Country Day."

Observance of the week in North Dakota is urged by Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction; the commander of the American Legion, educators' organizations and civic organizations. The anti-illiteracy campaign is being emphasized by the State Department of Education, a bulletin stating:

"During the past year over six thousand adults were enrolled in the night schools in North Dakota. The percentage of illiteracy in North Dakota has been reduced to less than one per cent. Golden Valley County has the distinction of being the first county in the state to wipe out illiteracy entirely. Twelve counties have less than ten adults who cannot read or write in any language. In Morton County fifteen night schools were conducted in the rural communities. The teachers received no additional compensation for their services. Four night schools were operated on the Indian Reservation at Belcourt. One school had in attendance not only the Indians of the reservation, but Greeks and Syrians who are now settled on the reservation. The teachers in the rural communities in McIntosh County conducted a number of night schools. As a result of the instruction in an evening school conducted by business women all of those enrolled took out their citizenship papers."

COW DECORATED

Cheltenham, England, Nov. 13.—A cow being driven through the streets of Cheltenham suddenly chased its driver and then attacked two men on bicycles. Both hurriedly dismounted and the cow, with the two bicycles on its horns, dashed down the road and charged a billboard. The machines were totally wrecked.

They and you

They clothe you, feed you, furnish your home for you, send you on cushioned wheels to work, surround you with pleasure, ease. They give you accurate news, display to you tested wares, promise you honest values, bring you honest goods.

They are your university. They teach you home decoration; correct dress; sanitation; preparation and serving of food; music, literature, art; business methods—something of every science known to man. They are your bank. They help you save. Your adviser. They spare you mistakes. Your friend. They bring you comfort, convenience, speed.

They are nothing if you do not heed them; all if you do. They pack their messages into minutes; make them entertaining, simple, quick.

Advertisements do this—the advertisements in this paper. Do you read them every day? It pays.

LIQUOR WAR DEATH CAUSE

Two Are Shot Down in Cleveland, Ohio

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—A bootlegger's war culminating in an ambush today, police declare, brought death to Louis Rosen, 29, Cleveland, and his brother-in-law, Adolph Adelson, 28, Philadelphia, college graduate. They were killed in the doorway of Rosen's garage at his home in a fashionable east end district. Adelson and wife came here two days ago to visit the Rosens and attend a family wedding.

Police, clearing the city for the killings, arrested the wife of a former confectionery owner, whom they declare is a partner of Rosen in his liquor running activities. Three men were seen to drive away in a car shortly after the sound of shots in the rear of the Rosen home.

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN POSTOFFICE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 13.—Two men were killed, one is dying and 12 are injured as the result of a terrific explosion which late yesterday destroyed the loading dock and receiving room of the main Grand Rapids postoffice with a property damage of $50,000.

The dead are: Ernest A. Roth, 30, a truck driver; M. Pettersch, 47, a clerk, both legs blown off.

Seriously injured: Dale Newhouse, possible skull fracture. Less severely injured: Sinclair Varen, a clerk, broken leg; Roy Huch of Hastings, Mich., cut on right arm and neck; Loraine Yarrington, minor injuries; Clarence R. Mackley, manager of American Weather Strip company, cut on head and hands by flying wreckage; Charles H. Butler, superintendent of mails, struck on head suffering from shock.

Two theories, that escaping gas collecting beneath the platform was ignited or that a bomb sent through the mails exploded prematurely, were advanced by postal inspectors and police following a preliminary investigation.

GERMANY IS IN THROES OF AN ELECTION

Berlin, Nov. 13.—President Ebert, succeeding Dr. Wilhelm Marx as chancellor and the latter's election to the presidency of Germany is now being reckoned with in political circles as not an improbable sequel to the forthcoming reichstag elections.

With government leaders off on prolonged stumping tours, and all the major parties engaged in drafting platforms, the campaign ended December 7 is well under way. Chancellor Marx is booked for a spell-binding trip which will keep him on the rostrum until the eve of election, while foreign minister Stresemann and other members of the cabinet are also swinging around the circuit in an effort to stimulate popular interest in balloting. This interest so far has manifested a sluggishness which presages a heavy stay at home vote.

The present predictions reckon with a heavy reduction in the number of newly-elected deputies and various party headquarters assume that the final count will reveal a redistribution of about 50 mandates. The socialists are credited with the recovery of at least 30 from the communists. The remainder are allotted to the clericals and democrats.

The present calculations assume that the Marx-Stresemann cabinet will continue in office until the government's compulsory program of tax and social legislation will have slipped through the reichstag. After that it is declared that the cabinet will give way to a brand new coalition comprising the socialist, clericals, democrats, Bavarian peoples party and several unattached groups whose total representation in the new elected reichstag will ensure the new government a comfortable working majority.

It is in this connection that political prophets now contemplate the formation next spring of a coalition government headed by Ebert, whose term expires, as president, June 1925.

Daughters of the Confederacy to Meet at Savannah

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 13.—The thirty-first annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will convene here Wednesday, November 19. Preliminary exercises will be held Tuesday evening, November 18, in the municipal auditorium, while Monday, November 17, will be given over to meeting of committees and a conference of the division presidents in charge of the president-general will take place.

There are 100,000 members of the organization, with 1,125 chapters in 37 states and one in Paris. Last year the United Daughters of the Confederacy contributed, to scholarships and otherwise, $304,000 toward educating worthy and needy young people.

Mrs. Frank Harrold, of Americus, Ga., is president of the organization.

A new automatic and self-regulating device has been invented by John A. Stransky, 4486 Fourth St., Pukwana, South Dakota, with which automobiles have made from 25 to 57 miles on a gallon of gasoline. It removes carbon and reduces spark plug trouble and overheating. It can be installed by any one in five minutes. Mr. Stransky wants distributors and is willing to send a sample at his own risk. Roumania Queen Promotes Match Between Son and English Girl

The 19-year-old Countess of Seaford is heiress to the $30,000,000 estate of her father, the late Earl of Seaford. It is rumored that Queen Marie of Roumania is favorably inclined toward the possibility of the marriage of the young countess and her son, Prince Nicholas, now serving as a junior officer on a British battleship.

Ga., a sister of Governor Walker of Georgia, is president-general of the organization.

GIRL SAVES VILLAGE BY QUICK WIT

Moorhead, Minn., Nov. 13.—The village of Georgetown, about 13 miles north of here, is again with praise for Louise Fisher, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher. To Louise's presence of mind and bravery villagers declare Georgetown owes its escape to possible destruction by fire.

The fire broke out in an ice house early Saturday morning last, belated reports stated, and Louise, awake and sensing the danger, went from house to house, rapping on doors of almost every house in town with the result that a bucket brigade was formed. In a final attempt to get all villagers awake she secured a key to the church and rang the church bell. The flames were subdued with a loss of but $100.

MRS. HARDING IS WEAKER

Marion, O., Nov. 13.—Mrs. Florence King Harding, who is critically ill with kidney trouble, was reported as not so well, in a bulletin issued this morning by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer.

The bulletin read: "Mrs. Harding had a restless and painful night and is not so well this morning." Instead of being given to local newspaper men personally by Dr. Sawyer, this morning's bulletin was read over the telephone by a nurse. This was taken to indicate that Dr. Sawyer is remaining close to the bedside of his patient.

New York, Nov. 13.—Cessation of heavy profit-taking in today's stock market was followed by another burst of public buying which carried more than two dozen issues to new peak prices for the year. Trading which started out in rather moderate fashion soon assumed the terrific pace of the last few days, sales in the first three hours totalling nearly 1,400,000 shares.

NORWEGIAN ENVOY WILL INVESTIGATE

Washington, Nov. 13.—Activities on "rum row" of vessels under the Norwegian flag, reported by the coast guard service recently, will be investigated by the Norwegian minister here, H. H. Bryn.

Mr. Bryn said he would ask the American government to furnish him with the names of these ships in order that he might communicate the facts to the Norwegian foreign office.

The minister added that popular opinion in Norway, which is itself a prohibition country, would oppose the use of the Norwegian flag for smuggling liquor into the United States. He expressed confidence that the Norwegian ship owners' association would take steps to correct any other situation as pointed out in the coast guard report.

Mr. Bryn declared at the same time that he was unaware that any considerable number of Norwegian ships were active in the rum fleet, the only case that had been drawn to his attention being that of the seizure of the Sagatind.

While doubting whether any official action could be taken by his government to restrain the bringing into this country of liquors from Norwegian ships, as this would entail special legislation, Mr. Bryn expressed the opinion that the Norwegian ship owners' association would, if satisfied of the charges, exert pressure, supported by public opinion, to stop such traffic under the Norwegian flag.

The coast guard assertion that the end of the rum fleet is in sight was backed up yesterday in a statement by R. Q. Merrick, New York prohibition division chief.

NOBLE PRIZE IS AWARDED

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—The Swedish academy today awarded the 1924 Nobel prize in literature to the Polish author, Wladislaw Reymont. The recipient is one of the latter school of Polish poets.

It takes about 6 pounds of seed corn to plant an acre.

SUNSHINE AND FRESH AIR GOOD FOR BAD GIRLS

London, Nov. 13.—The English reformers' idea of making bad girls better is to give them trips to the sea. Accordingly last year several of the detention institutions for young girls took parties of inmates to various seaside resorts, where they were given a two weeks' vacation with only the supervision of two matrons to each party of 25 girls.

Last year's outings proved so successful that nearly all similar institutions this year took up the idea and allowed their best behaved girls to have a vacation. The expenses for the trip, above what it would have cost to feed and provide for the girls at the institution, were donated by persons interested in progressive and humanizing methods in the correctional institutions of the country.

ANOTHER MAN IS VICTIM OF GANGSTER WAR

Chicago, Nov. 13.—William Shields was shot and probably fatally wounded early today on the south side in what the police describe as a gangland fight which is being investigated particularly for any connection with the slaying of Dion O'Banion.
